Strike Grows As Island Loggers Decline Terms

Proposed Wage Scale Rejected at Meeting of Lumber Workers' Association in Vancouver; Right to Organize Camp Committees Is Stumbling Block to Settlement

Great Central Lake Loggers Walk Out

Information from Vancouver that at a meeting there yesterday of striking Vancouver Island loggers the wage scale offered by Adam Bell, deputy Minister of Labor, was rejected and news from Port Alberni of a further increase in the number of strikers were the latest developments in the situation, which is growing daily more serious on Vancouver Island.

One hundred and thirty-five men walked out at the Alberni Pacific Company Camp Three at Great Central Lake yesterday. Loggers at the Great Central Camp joined them this morning. Camps of the two main logging companies in that area, are now closed.

The Great Central Camp has only enough logs to keep the mill running nine days, it is reported, while the Alberni Pacific Mill can probably operate for six weeks with logs on hand.

At the meeting in Vancouver it was reported the chief objection to the deputy minister's proposal was refusal to grant loggers the right to organize camp committees.

A ray of hope is seen in this view of the fact that Mr. Bell's comments on this are not taken as a definite refusal.

Premier Makes $25,000 Gift

Prime Minister Bennett Gives Sum to Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B.

Sackville, N.B., Feb. 28.—Presentation of a gift of $25,000 to Mount Allison University by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, was announced here yesterday. One-half of the amount had been received yesterday, and the remaining $12,500 was expected to be presented in the near future.

The gift of the Prime Minister was made in honor of his two sisters, Mrs. W. D. Herridge, wife of the Canadian Minister to the United States, and the late Mrs. Coates, both graduates of Mount Allison. Mrs. Coates' death occurred in British Columbia a few years ago. The Prime Minister's mother was also a Mount Allison student.

By-election Soon For Columbia Seat

C.C.F. Expected to Have Candidate in Fight for Restored Seat in British Columbia Legislature

A test of public opinion between the Liberal and C.C.F. parties in a by-election in the Columbia riding before the present session of the Legislature ends, loomed as a distinct possibility today.

"I don't think we will pass it up," commented a C.C.F. member this morning when questioned if the party would contest the seat.

RASPUTIN'S SLAYER HEARD

Prince Yousouppoff Tells London Court He Killed Russian Monk

Canadian Press and Associated Press

London, Feb. 28.—In short crisp sentences, Prince Chegodoff Yousouppoff told a tense courtroom here today in the trial of his wife's libel suit that he killed Rasputin, Russia's "Mad Monk," for the good of his country.

Previously defence counsel had sprung a surprise by indicating Yousouppoff would contend Prince Yousouppoff did not kill Rasputin, as he claimed. Cross-examination of the Princess, Sir William Jowitt asked questions after questions regarding historical surroundings of the tragedy. Some were interpreted by the crowded courtroom as definitely suggesting it was not Yousouppoff who slew Rasputin in that crucial period of history in the midst of the Great War.

Much of his argument, however, was directed to showing the character in the film "Rasputin and the Empress" did not correspond in many particulars to Prince Yousouppoff, and therefore the woman character, on whose depiction the suit is based, could scarcely be taken as representing the Princess.

ASKS FOR $2,000,000
She seeks $2,000,000, claiming the film-linked her identity objectionably with Rasputin's.

In cross-examination, Sir William Jowitt endeavored to show parts of the film to which she objected had been cut out, but the daughter of Grand Duke Alexander, an uncle of the late Czar Nicholas, insisted she was still dissatisfied.

The descendant of one of old Russia's most noble families claims he killed Rasputin when the latter told him he was in the pay of Germany and planned to seize the Czar's throne.

"In doing what I did, I thought was acting in the service of my country," said the Prince under questioning of counsel for the plaintiff, driving hard to overcome doubts cast on the identity of the monk's slayer by defence questioning of the Princess.

"Did you determine that in the interest of your country Rasputin should die?" Sir Patrick Hastings, one of England's leading barristers, asked.

REGARDED AS DANGER
"Yes," replied the witness, as a deep silence fell over the courtroom, "because I thought he was a danger to my country."

During cross-examination of the Princess, Sir William Jowitt, chief defence counsel, said: "I do suggest Prince Yousouppoff did not kill Rasputin."

ST. LAWRENCE VOTE DELAYED

Washington, Feb. 28.—Efforts to reach an agreement for a vote on the long-pending St. Lawrence Waterway treaty with Canada were blocked in the United States Senate today by Senator McNary of Oregon, the minority leader, who objected to and thus killed a resolution to vote March 14.

Milkman Flies to Rescue of Snowbound

Alplanes came to the rescue when residents of isolated suburban Long Island towns a few days ago faced a food shortage after New York's worst snowstorm in forty-six years. The above picture was taken at Roosevelt Field, L.I., as milk flown from Paulsboro, N.J., was transferred to a truck for use in Long Island hospitals.

Six-hour Day and Insurance Linked With Finance Plan

OTTAWA TO RAISE $20,000,000 SOON

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Reports current in financial circles here are to the effect the Dominion Government contemplates early offer by tender of short-term treasury bills for an amount not exceeding $20,000,000. No official announcement has yet been made by the government with respect to immediate financing, but it is learned the report is well founded. The treasury bills would mature in three or six months.

Dominion Action on Unemployment Essential, Declares Herbert Anscomb, Victoria, in House; Outlines "Callable Consol" Proposal to Relieve Debt; "Disregard for Sanctity of Covenants Scored"

Herbert Anscomb, former mayor, and now the third member for Victoria, yesterday afternoon presented to the Legislature his analysis and remedies for the economic ills of British Columbia.

His suggestions for relief of unemployment were two-fold: First, the institution of a universal six-hour working day, something which, of course, the province could not do by itself, but would have to be a world movement.

Second, contributory unemployment insurance, which he said the federal government should take up on its own immediately if the federal government failed to move.

For the financial problems he advanced this scheme: To fix an amount which is to be regarded as permanent debt and refund the loans as they fall due up to that figure on a "callable consol basis" by issuing a consol which would never be redeemed and would therefore require no sinking fund.

To relieve municipalities he declared some adjustment has to be made in the viewpoint of the taxation of land and improvements. Educational and social service costs must be removed from the home-owner.

SANCTITY OF COVENANTS
Mr. Anscomb dealt quickly and concisely with each of these matters in turn, which he considered the major issues before the government at the present time, and he left the subject with the thought that "confidence is

By James A. Mills, Associated Press Correspondent

Haikang, Manchukuo, Feb. 28.—Henry Pu-Yi, on the eve of his enthronement as Emperor of Manchukuo, made a bid for foreign recognition in a statement given the Associated Press today.

"I reviewed the progress made in the Japanese-occupied state during the two years he has acted as administrator."

"Let the world judge by this," he invited in the statement, "whether we deserve the right of a separate existence, or whether we ought to have foreign encouragement or recognition."

BEST WEATHER FOR 60 YEARS

Gardens in Victoria Burst Into Bloom as Sun Smiles

The finest February in Victoria in over sixty years passed into history today, leaving flower gardens in colorful bloom and lilacs and hawthorn and maple trees bursting into bloom.

The winter was one of the mildest, but stormiest, in years, and plants and flowers that were left in the ground from last summer are now showing green.

For seventeen days during the month the highest average temperature was over fifty degrees. The highest temperature was fifty-four degrees on January 17 and the lowest thirty-five last Friday. The lowest on the grass was 25.6 on Friday and 27.6 on Saturday, when there were sharp frosts on the ground in the morning and evening. The mean temperature for the month was forty-six degrees, which was five degrees above average.

RAINFALL
The total rainfall for the month, measured at 11 o'clock this morning the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill, was 1.26 inches, which was 1.86 inches below average. Today's rain will bring the average up a little, but February will still be one of the driest second-months of the year in nearly a quarter of a century.

For 55 hours and forty-two minutes Old Sol shone brightly and warmly this month. This is sixty-one hours above average, and gives an average of six hours of sunshine a day for the twenty-seven days. People took to the beaches during the month, and enjoyed picnic lunches in the warm, balmy air. It was the greatest amount of sunshine recorded in forty-three years, and the mildest recorded in over sixty years.

T. Reid Urges Parliament Move to Reduce Orientals on Canadian Ships

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Asserting owners of ships and vessels of Canadian registry on the Pacific coast employ Orientals in large measure, Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster, will ask the House of Commons to take steps to secure employment for white seamen.

Mr. Reid has placed a resolution on the Commons' order-paper reading as follows:

"Whereas, great numbers of Canadian seamen on the Pacific coast of British Columbia are out of employment, and in many cases destitute, and whereas, owners of ships and vessels of Canadian registry on the Pacific coast of British Columbia give employment in preference to those of Oriental origin;

"And whereas, other countries give greater consideration to the employment of their own nationals on ships and vessels belonging to their own country;

"And whereas, the Canadian government grants large sums of money to the owners of ships and vessels by way of subsidies;

"That it is desirable that every encouragement be given for the employment of officers, seamen, cooks and engineers of white Canadian citizenship in preference to those of Oriental origin on all Canadian-owned and registered ships and vessels;

Gustave Franco, Head of Province's Wage Board, Testifies Before Commons Committee in Ottawa Regarding Conditions in Garment Factories, Shoe Factories and Other Industries in Quebec

Wages in Toronto Told of Yesterday

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Wages as low as $2 and $3 a week for girls are paid in the Montreal needle trade, Gustave Franco, chairman of the Quebec Minimum Wage Board, told the Commons business inquiry committee today. Reliable manufacturers let contracts to men for as low as 35 cents a dozen for boys' trousers and 50 cents to $1 for a dozen men's trousers. With such low prices, contractors could not pay more than $2 and $3 a week to their workers.

In 1932 inspectors of the Minimum Wage Board found a biscuit factory in Montreal with 451 employees paying five to eleven cents an hour to its girl workers, said Mr. Franco. Thirteen girls received five cents; forty-five at six cents; sixty at seven cents; twenty-four at eight cents; seventy-seven at nine cents; 100 at ten cents, and 132 at eleven cents. The board took steps to raise the wages, he said.

SHOE FACTORIES
Low wages also were paid in the Montreal shoe industry, said Mr. Franco, and manufacturers dodged the minimum wage laws by discharging girls who received $9, $10 and $11 a week and took on boys and single men at $2 and $3 a week. The plants in rural Quebec in recent years had increased in number. They paid less wages than Montreal plants, thus reducing general wages.

One shoe plant in rural Quebec was found to be paying $1.50 a week to its girl workers for seventy-five hours. The owner was prosecuted, but was let off with a $10 fine as a first offender, said the witness.

AGAINST WIVES
In his experience, said Mr. Franco, manufacturers did not wish to pay low wages generally because they were reflected in the quality of their goods. But they were forced to reduce costs to keep in business.

"There is no doubt about the suffering among girl workers in Montreal," said Mr. Franco. "Girls today through lack of work and the low wages, minimum or not, cannot exist in the cities. It is impossible."

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(Associated Press)—The state rested its case today in the second trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop, sixty-three, accused of murdering her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rheta Wynkoop.

McGovern, expelled on a previous occasion for seizing the mace, attempted to continue speaking while the speaker was still standing. The House stormed "Order, order."

"To — with you," McGovern was heard to shout through the din. But he finally yielded to the speaker. "If my constituents are not allowed in the House it's no use my remaining," he exclaimed, and left, plainly disgusted.

Montreal Wage Field Explored By M.P.'s

MINIMUM AND PIECEWORK

Minimum wages were $12.50 in the women's dress trade, "but it is only the most efficient and experienced girl who can make the minimum wage or above it through piecework. And as soon as a percentage of girls in a shop make more than the minimum wage, bang goes down the piecework basis again," he said.

Mr. Franco had known of the piecework basis being reduced from fifty cents to fifteen cents for a complete women's dress in a Montreal shop.

"Piecework is the curse of industry," he said. "We can control hours of labor and a flat or minimum rate but not piecework."

WORK ON SUNDAYS

Some Montreal plants even employed trucks to deliver goods to homes so girls could work on Sundays on piece work.

The minimum wage board had a black list of firms that cheated their employees, paid low wages and broke the law, said the witness. They were checked weekly, and "the quicker we are able to drive them out of business, the better for all concerned."

Eventually Quebec and other provinces would be forced to act a minimum wage below which no worker could be paid, he said. "That is coming as sure as we are here."

The committee then adjourned to meet later to-day.

WILLIAM OFFICER HEARD

At yesterday's sitting of the Commons committee A. W. Laver, welfare commissioner of Toronto, told of firms paying $5, $6 and up to $10 to heads of families for a full week's work, forcing them to apply to the city for partial relief in order to pay their rent and buy food and clothing.

A few minutes after Richard Staples, chairman of the Ontario Minimum Wage Board, told how employers dodged the law by hiring girls only a few hours a day in the rush hours and refused to pay minimum wages.

The Toronto welfare commissioner gave some concrete illustrations of law evasions. Mr. Laver instanced the National Picture Frame and Art Company, which he said had "tired" seventeen girls who were receiving minimum wages of $12.50 a week and hired men and boys who were outside the minimum wage law provisions.

Men with families of four children were paid $9 a week, fifteen cents an hour for nine hours and single men and boys, ten and twelve cents an hour.

Chain stores and the needle trade

were the worst offenders in Toronto in paying low wages, Mr. Laver said. When firms paid less than minimum wages as defined by law, no reports were made to provincial authorities for fear the employees would be discharged in retaliation.

TAX BURDEN INCREASED

Low wages were reflected three ways in Toronto civic taxation, said Mr. Laver. Better costs were increased last year to $6,686,500; hospitalization costs jumped to $1,260,000 because people could not pay themselves, and scores of families sought to have their children become wards of the city.

Last year Toronto spent $236,000 maintaining its wards. Special men were employed to fight cases in the courts where impoverished parents sought to hand over their children to city institutions rather than see them starve and go practically naked.

Seized at random from a list of 1,455 families who were paid partial relief in Toronto because of low wages—in each case the wage-earner worked full time—Mr. Laver instanced forty-one men and women receiving from $4 to $10 for a full week's work. For instance, a married woman employed in a T. Eaton Company factory with an ill husband and twelve-year-old son as dependents was paid $10 a week.

The instance given were with only one or two exceptions, male heads of families.

The first instance was that of Murray's Restaurant, in which one man employed for seventy-two hours a week received $9.

The next—a "shop and shop" chain grocery store—two men $12.50 and $10 a week respectively for long hours.

The Smith Manufacturing Company declared to be makers of "shoddy textile," paid $8.80 for a forty-hour week. It was stated.

FAMILY HEAD GETS $4.44

The Western Rag and Metal Company paid $5.50 a week to one man, while the Colonial Manufacturing Company, makers of shoes and slippers, paid the head of a family $4.44.

The employee of a Red Indian gas service station received $10 for a sixty-four-hour week, it was stated.

The next affidavit was from an instance of General Groves Limited who received $10 for a fifty-hour week. The next, an employee of the Queen City Paper Company, $5 for a forty-five-hour week; Toronto Electric Supply Company, $7, forty-eight hours; Queen City Co-operative Company, $5, fifty-five hours; Rapid Grip Battery Company, fifty hours; Cosgrave Brewery, full time, $9.82 a week; J. N. Day Company, full time, from $6 to $9 a week; Toronto Feather and Down Company, full time, $9.50; Midland Whitewear Company, Draper's Grocery and Warsaw Bakery, all full time, $6; Canada Packers Limited, full time, $10.50.

The next affidavit was from a married woman with a husband and a twelve-year-old boy dependent on her. She was employed by the T. Eaton Company as a factory employee and paid $10 for a full week's work.

COULD BE CHECKED

Replying to W. W. Kennedy, Conservative, Winnipeg South, Centre, the Toronto Welfare Commissioner said his records did not list men by their employers. For that reason it would be impossible to say, for instance, how many men and women were working for the T. Eaton Company at low wages. If the Eaton Company refused its payroll, it could be checked in five minutes.

"Do you report these cases (low wages below minimum rates) to provincial authorities?" asked Mr. Kennedy.

"No, we do not. We do not because we do not want these people to lose their jobs and come on the city for full relief."

Two women, heads of families, employed by the Toronto Feather and Down Co. Limited, were paid $5 for a week's work. It was stated. An employee, with five dependents, of the G. H. Heese Co. received $10 a week for full time.

A worker of the Canada Packers got $10, while a woman employee of the Woolworth Co. with three years' service in that firm, received $10 a week. This woman had two children.

The Colgate Chemical Co. paid $11 and $11.50 a week to two workmen, while a man employed for twenty-five years with the Charles Gottrell Co. received $9.50 for a sixty-hour week.

Nine dollars a week was paid by the Baer Equipment Co. to one worker, while $10 was the weekly wage paid by the Yonge Street branch of the Dominion Stores to one of its clerks, a married man.

"How many are on relief lists who are in circumstances similar to these—that is to say, the inadequacy of the wages makes it necessary for them to go on relief?" asked Chairman Stevens.

For the week ended February 17, a total of 1,455 families were supplied with partial relief, Mr. Laver replied.

Of these, 100 were on the list of larger list at present, there were still some who had small earnings.

R.C.M.P. MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 28.—Before the eyes of several horror-stricken witnesses, Constable Clifford Stanley Lord, forty, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, committed suicide here yesterday by shooting himself through the head on the roof of a warehouse building and plunging to his death in a lane six stories below. No cause for his action has been discovered.

Witnesses on the ground were attracted by the mountie standing on the parapet of the roof. He was seen to pull his gun from its holster, and take off his hat and gloves and lay

SENATOR FIGHTS SWEEPSTAKE BILL

Canadian Press

Japanese to Sell Manchurian Autos

Canadian Press

Mukden, Manchuria, Feb. 28.—Now it is the automobile market which is to be invaded by Japanese-made cars underselling motor cars of foreign makes. Japanese factories, in addition to turning out a great number of trucks for army use, expect this year to produce 1,500 automobiles for sale in Japan and to ship parts to the new assembly plant near Mukden sufficient to turn out 1,000 cars for Manchurian sale. Factories are being built by which Japanese manufacturers hope to be able to sell 10,000 cars in Manchuria within three years.

The "open door" will be maintained for the automobile trade, but Japan will be able to undersell foreign producers, it is confidently predicted.

BRANDS NRA FAILURE

Canadian Press

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist Party in the United States, ended a country-wide survey of industry and working conditions with a declaration yesterday that the NRA has "failed miserably."

"Hours and wages are so bad the average worker has less purchasing power than he had last June," said Mr. Thomas, who was Socialist candidate for President of the United States in 1932. "Employment has fallen off and the working week is too long."

OLD CHURCH MAY BE TRANSPORTED

E. P. Gaston Suggests Building Be Moved From London to San Francisco

Associated Press

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—A proposal that one of nineteen condemned ancient churches, built in London after the Great Fire of 1666 be transported to San Francisco and re-erected on one of the city's hills was made by Capt. Edward Page Gaston, fellow of the Royal Geographic Society, in an address at a sectional luncheon of the Commonwealth Club yesterday.

The churches, now condemned as redundant, would be sent to Chicago, Washington and San Francisco, as well as other cities of the United States and the British possessions, as strengthening the ties of the new world with Great Britain. Although the proposal was first made twelve years ago, Mr. Gaston said, it failed because of public disapproval although the Bishop of London was inclined to look favorably on it.

"I am reviving the proposal now," he said, "because of the financial crisis facing the Anglican Church. Sites of the churches are worth approximately $30,000,000."

"I have written the Bishop of London suggesting one of the churches be presented to San Francisco in commemoration of the city's centennial, the Golden Gate of San Francisco in the Golden Hind in July, 1579, when the first Anglican religious service was held on the shores of the Pacific."

British MAY HAVE NEW MINISTRY

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 28.—Despite cold water Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon threw on previous rumors, reports of impending cabinet changes were under discussion again today, coupled with the forecast a new portfolio might be created.

Political seers said there was a possibility Sir Henry Belton, Minister of Labor, might be elevated to the peerage and appointed chairman of a new unemployment assistance board which will administer under the wing of the Ministry of Health. Ernest Brown, Minister of Mines, has been mentioned as a likely choice for the portfolio in the event the office is created.

SASKATCHEWAN IS OFFERED PARK

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Prince Albert National Park was offered back to the province yesterday by James McG. Stewart, Halifax, chief counsel for the Dominion government in the $250,000,000 Saskatchewan natural resources claims being heard by the Dyar commission. Mr. Stewart made the offer on the authority of the Dominion government, providing the province would be responsible for further upkeep.

The hearing to-day involved 30,043 acres set aside by the Dominion government during the years it administered the natural resources of the province, for national defence purposes under the British North America Act.

NEW IRISH ARMED FORCE

London, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press)

—No question involving the Anglo-Irish Treaty arises from the new Free State volunteer territorial force so long as it remains within the limits of the treaty, said Mr. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, in the House of Commons yesterday.

The treaty sets out that the Free State forces shall not exceed the same proportion of British forces as the Free State population bears to the population of Great Britain.

ATTACK NAZIS ON REICH FIRE

Acquitted Bulgarians in Sensational Trial, Now in Moscow, Air Complaints

By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Moscow, Feb. 28.—In a two-hour diatribe against Nazi Germany, Georgi Dimitroff described in detail yesterday the "moral torture" he and two comrades suffered in a Berlin prison after their acquittal of arson and treason charges in the German Reichstag fire trial.

He expressed his happiness at reaching finally his "real fatherland"—Soviet Russia—and declared the young Dutchman Marinus Van Der Lubbe, who was beheaded for starting the blaze in Berlin a year ago, "was not guilty."

Dimitroff, Wassil Tanef and Blagot Popoff arrived by airplane yesterday evening from Berlin. Their Bulgarian citizenship was revoked and they were made citizens of Russia. Thousands of enthusiastically cheering Russians greeted them on arrival.

"Van Der Lubbe set fire to the Reichstag restaurant, but others fired the incendiary hall," Dimitroff said.

"The real organizers of that crime are now sitting at the top of the German government. The fire itself was a provocation, and the Supreme Court trial in Leipzig and Berlin which was concluded last September was the same thing."

SECRET AT BERLIN

Berlin, Feb. 28.—Three Bulgarian revolutionaries, acquitted of having started the fire that wrecked the German Reichstag building exactly one year ago, were secretly placed on board an airplane yesterday and prepared by the Soviet embassy, remained behind as embassy souvenirs.

An official German communiqué declared:

"The deportation could not occur sooner as the Bulgarian government declined to accept the acquitted prisoners. Not more recently the Soviet government has made them citizens, the possibility of ejecting them from Germany offered itself."

The Soviet embassy was first acquainted with the deportation by the Associated Press. It expressed great satisfaction and intimated that if Russia's request for their entrance into that country had been disregarded, a number of German citizens recently seized by Russian secret police on charges of sabotage and espionage would have faced a public trial.

Observers saw in the sudden release an example of Chancellor Hitler winning in a conflict of opinion with Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia.

Chancellor Hitler had stated previously the Bulgarians would be released as soon as possible. Goering had stated the probabilities of their release were indefinite.

U.S. FARM AREAS TO BE REDUCED

Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 28.—First steps in the programme of retiring poor United States agricultural lands from production had been taken today as President Roosevelt approved plans prepared by three districts of the government.

The Department of Agriculture, the Interior Department and the Federal Relief Corporation were told to proceed with the programme, for which $25,000,000 has already been provided from public works funds.

Between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 acres will be taken first. The total area of sub-marginal lands has been estimated at from 124,000,000 to 140,000,000 acres.

HONOR FOR COMPOSER

London, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press)

—If the ancient and honorable post of "Master of the King's Music" made vacant by the death of Sir Edward Elgar, is to be filled soon, London is inclined to believe Dr. Ralph Vaughan-Williams will receive the honor. Dr. Vaughan-Williams has received high acclaim in musical circles for his few, but select, works, which include the "London Symphony" and "Sea Symphony."

EVIDENCE LACKING

Los Angeles, Feb. 28 (Associated Press)

—Solely because the court said proof was lacking that the alleged embezzlement was of state money, Superior Judge Harry F. Sewell today had acquitted Frank C. Bryson, for twenty-seven years public administrator of Los Angeles County, of charges of stealing $14,300 in public funds.

NEW CONTROL FOR STREET RAILWAY

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 28.—Control of Winnipeg's street railway system by a transportation commission and its isolation from all other services is recommended in a report of the municipal and public utility board. The board was appointed to solve the problem of transportation in Greater Winnipeg.

In its plan to provide transportation at cost, the board recommends scrapping of existing contracts and franchises and formation of a new corporation, capitalized at $6,000,000. The new corporation would embrace the Winnipeg Electric Company, the Suburban Rapid Transit Company and the Winnipeg, Selkirk and Lake Winnipeg Railway, at present separate entities.

The report, prepared by W. R. Cottingham, chairman of the board, was tabled in the Manitoba Legislature.

Robbers Who Took $450 Are Hunted

Canadian Press

Bridge River, B.C., Feb. 28.—British Columbia police to-day were seeking thieves who broke into the post office at the mining property of Bralorne Mines Limited and escaped with between $400 and $500 in cash. It is believed the robbers hoped to get the Bralorne gold brick, but it was not ready for the mail at the time of the theft. The brick is gold produced at the mine and shipped out periodically.

THE ISSUES AT OTTAWA

IN SPITE OF THE FACT THAT Premier Bennett said soon after the present session of Parliament at Ottawa opened "the general opinion of the business people of this country is not that there should be a general election," it is being taken for granted in political circles that when the House has finished its business dissolution will take place and a general election will be announced for some time in the late summer.

Support is lent to the suggestion by various organization meetings which have been held by government supporters, while it is understood that Senator A. D. McRae, who handled the campaign with signal success in 1930, will be invited to fill the same role again. Whether he will accept the job, however, is another matter. It is well known that after Mr. Bennett took office he almost forgot his organizer and, as was only natural, General McRae was not obvious to the apparent slight. The Liberals, of course, will be ready for the fray any time the government shall choose.

As the business of the session proceeds, the country will probably get an inkling, in the absence of a plain statement of the Prime Minister's intentions, of what may be expected. Three outstanding issues are under consideration by the government—a public works programme for the relief of unemployment, changes in the banking laws of the country involving the establishment of a central bank, and a reciprocal trade measure with the United States.

As far as the public works programme is concerned, the provinces, as a result of the recent Dominion-provincial conference at Ottawa, are preparing plans for submission to the federal authorities, and until the whole scheme has been co-ordinated on a national basis there is very little that can be said about what may be embraced by it.

Premier Bennett is on record as in favor of a reciprocity trade treaty with the United States which would be fair to both sides. We would not expect him to favor an unfair bargain. The main point, however, is that he has departed from his somewhat hide-bound stand on high tariffs so far as to give expression to a desire for a larger flow of trade across the international boundary. In this stand he may rest assured that the great bulk of Canadian opinion is solidly behind him.

What has happened to the business between the two countries in the last four years now is beginning to make an impression upon people who, when things are running along smoothly, are disinclined to study statistics. This trade relationship can be summed up in the plain statement that whereas our business with our neighbor four years ago was worth more than $4,000,000,000—or considerably more than half of Canada's trade with the world at that time, and nearly half a billion more than our present total external trade—it has dwindled to approximately $390,000,000, a reduction of more than a billion dollars.

Incidentally, it is reported from Washington that President Roosevelt's impending tariff legislation has now reached the stage of discussion with administration leaders in Congress, and that its formal introduction is imminent. This measure is designed to give the President power to negotiate trade agreements. Mr. Roosevelt is known to be favorable to a "new deal" in the business exchange between his country and Canada, and if he shall follow this up with an invitation to Canada to sit in at a conference, we may presume, from his recent statement in the House of Commons, Premier Bennett will do everything possible to facilitate such an arrangement.

THE ISLAND'S MOTOR TRAFFIC

IT WAS ONLY TO BE EXPECTED THAT last year's tourist travel to Canada in general and to British Columbia in particular would show a falling off from that of 1932 and, of course, from the peak years of 1929 and 1930. But if automobile traffic to Victoria and Vancouver Island be taken as a criterion, the figures contained in the annual report of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau show that this part of the province, relatively, did almost as well last year as it did in 1932. The following statistics dealing with the entry of motor cars into the Dominion in the last two years tell the story:

DOMINION OF CANADA

1932 ..... 4,103,777 ..... 1933 ..... 3,202,547
A decrease of 901,230 cars, or 22%

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

1932 ..... 143,879 ..... 1933 ..... 102,863
A decrease of 41,016 cars, or 28.5%

VICTORIA AND VANCOUVER ISLAND

1932 ..... 18,394 ..... 1933 ..... 16,239
A decrease of fifty-five cars, or less than one-third of one per cent.

While the drop in the number of cars which entered Vancouver Island last year was only a trifling one, compared with the number which entered the mainland, it is still a drop. It is noted that the Island attracted less than one-fifth of the cars arriving in the province in 1933, and approximately only one-eighth of the total for the preceding year.

An important factor militating against motor travel to Vancouver Island is the cost of car transportation on the ferries. A reduction of these charges has been urged upon the transportation companies, which, however, contend that they could not meet the request without loss. Incidentally, our modest share of the total, as shown by the figures for the last two years, is a reminder that our publicity activities will have to be pushed with greater vigor this year than ever before.

This need is emphasized by the fact that the change in the liquor laws of the United States, whence comes practically all of our foreign automobile tourist traffic, will be bound to have an effect upon the number of cars which formerly came to Canada.

This is not to say that the majority of the touring public from that country came to the Dominion because of the facility with which liquor refreshment could be obtained, but a certain proportion of this traffic was drawn here by that attraction.

SENSELESS ECONOMY

THERE IS AN ODD NEW FORM OF mental disease afloat in the United States, according to Dr. Alvan L. Barach, New York psychiatrist, and it keeps its victims from spending money which they well could afford to spend.

In a report to the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Dr. Barach says this ailment is born of the depression and afflicts people in the higher income brackets. They get a vague and reasonless sense of guilt, and they try to atone for it by spending less money.

Rich men do without their cars, rich women dismiss their maids, according to Dr. Barach. If their income is cut twenty per cent, they cut their expenditures by fifty per cent. They have a hazy feeling that it is not right to spend money "in times like these."

It is against such people, says the psychiatrist, that "buy now" campaigns must be directed. Their refusal to spend what they easily could afford to spend holds up recovery and does no one any good.

1894 AND 1894

IF STUDENTS OF THE ECONOMIC trends of the last three years care to turn back the pages of history and take a look at the newspapers and reviews of forty years ago, they will find that problems of unemployment and the dangers of war, almost identical with those now troubling the world, were troubling the world then. Take this extract from The Review of Reviews (London), for January, 1894:

The sufferings of the unemployed, if not greater, are at least more vocal than ever, and remarkably various are the remedies proposed. Besides the projects already named, Mr. Keir Hardie suggested to Parliament on the 12th ult. the establishment of an eight-hour day and the prohibition of overtime in government factories, the reclamation of waste lands and, moreover, the reforesting of the country, and the provision of suitable accommodation for the aged poor. The Daily Chronicle revives an old scheme for reclaiming The Wash, and so adding a new country to England. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's hope is for extended markets for national trade. The gravity of this problem throughout the United Kingdom and the United States may be inferred from the statements that the unemployed number in London 100,000, in New York 80,000, and in Chicago 120,000.

That was the unemployment situation forty years ago as represented by conditions in three great English-speaking cities on both sides of the Atlantic. The following is an extract from the same journal for February, 1894, emphasizing the need of peace:

What seems to be the crying need of the hour is a great European leader, a truly international man, whom kings and statesmen and the common people in every land could trust, who, passing from court to court, from cabinet to cabinet, from one bourse to another, could negotiate the general desire for peace into a permanent organization, who could disarm national pride and sensitive national honor into loyal submission to a tribunal of international justice and international force. In default of such a modern edition of Peter the Hermit preaching the union of the nations in a crusade against war, Europe may have to wait the authoritative summons of the league of English-speaking peoples, or the spontaneous resolve of the continental proletariat, or the cruel dictate of mutual helplessness following on devastating war. But whatever be the occasion, the one condition of settled peace remains the same: the establishment of a Central Council, with power to enforce its sentences. Disarmament by mutual arrangement seems scarcely possible or wise, unless accompanied or preceded by this condition. Until a man knows that the law is strong enough to protect him from injury, he can hardly be expected to give up carrying arms, and until nations know that behind the High Court of international justice there is material strength enough to prevent or punish the international aggressor, they are not likely in any fit of amiable enthusiasm to disarm their armies and dismantle their fortresses. That condition observed, the difficulty ought not to be insoluble.

The foregoing reference to the need of peace requires no elaboration. It was not until after the end of the great war that the appeal of 1894 was heard in a practical fashion. But between 1894 and 1934 Mars has had a good innings. Down on the pages of history have gone the records of the South African War, the Russo-Japanese War, a small crop of Balkan wars of a more or less serious nature, the "war to end war" of 1914-1918, fighting in various parts of Latin America, conflict in the Orient between China and Japan, and a species of civil war in Europe as systems of government have been changed.

Yet even at this late date the nations of the world are spending more every year on armaments than they were spending prior to 1914. The bright spot on the international horizon, however, is the League of Nations—"the High Court of international justice"—made perhaps somewhat brighter by the apparent desire on the part of some countries to remove, by gradual disarmament, one of the principal causes of war.

LET IT RIDE
The Border Cities Star

In "definite, deliberate and decisive" language, Prime Minister Bennett is reported to have stated that speculative measures will not be adopted by the Dominion of Canada in an effort to bring about a return of prosperity. Undoubtedly nothing could be less spectacular than Ottawa's present policy or "let it ride."

KILLING BY RIDICULE
The St. John Telegraph-Journal

England has a remarkable way of killing suggestions by ridicule. British Fascists are gnashing their teeth just now because of the laughter raised over their attempt to stimulate artificial enthusiasm that, unfortunately for them, was disclosed. Fascist organizations in England, it appears, sent out to the faithful "strictly confidential" letters urging a flood of messages to the press applauding the Boche's proclamation. Every true Fascist was exhorted to pull out his pen and write his best. But some untrue Fascist must have told the enemy and he told England. Therefore, England is laughing at its Fascists.

A THOUGHT

I have coveted no man's silver or gold or apparel—The Acts xx 33.
The soul of man is infinite in what it covets.—Ben Johnson.

Across the Bay

Mr. Anson emerges with vigor, with conservatism, but without poetry—Mr. Murray produces a few rough notes and a railway plan—Mr. Swales debunks the proud pioneers—and the C.C.F. still maintain its secret.

By H. R. W.

EMERGING

LITTLE BY LITTLE, like pieces in a great jigsaw puzzle, the Right-wing Legation is emerging from the mists of the election and the vagueness of newspaper headlines into a thing of flesh and blood. Three more of the forty-seven pieces in the puzzle emerged on Tuesday and leaving them at least one which will bear watching. As the previous day had belonged to Mr. McGee and the extreme Left, Tuesday belonged to our own Mr. Anson and what we might call the Right, which is rather out of fashion here at the moment—not as exciting a day as Monday but informative, if you have the faculty of listening to long speeches.

Beyond question, Mr. Anson, whatever you may think of his politics, emerges as one of the most dominant personalities of this assembly, a coming man. In sheer physical energy, in vitality, in conviction, Mr. Anson completely triumphs over the widely-assorted yet strangely-stimular men. The other two, of course, are Mr. Pattullo and Mr. McGee.

The Premier is unquestioned master of his party, with an authority and prestige higher to-day than it ever was before. Mr. McGee is easily the chief radical of the assembly, beside whom the C.C.F. opposition pales for lack of its pure force of character. Mr. Anson now appears as the grim, unyielding high priest of Conservatism.

Tall, large, heavy-featured and growing stouter, Mr. Anson radiates the gravity of his physical energy which we have already come to know in Mr. Pattullo and Mr. McGee. He speaks rather harshly and perhaps a little too uniformly loud, which makes emphasis difficult. His chief radical delivery is incisive, you might almost say truculent, downright, full of force and conviction.

BUSINESS

MR. ANSON is one of those practical men of business to whom the matter of government is like the management of a company. The mysteries of human character, the contradictions of electorates, the social and political concepts known as democracy are not for him. Nor does he pause much to examine the higher mysteries of Mr. McGee's economics. To him it is a matter of dollars and cents, of good management, of observing contracts. Older hands have not found the thing so simple and businesslike.

Mr. Anson would cut the debate on the Throne Speech. He would cut down the size of the Legislature. He would pay all bills on the nail. His only concession to the radical policies of these times would be provincial unemployment insurance, the money to be used not in doles but in providing useful work.

UTOPIAS

IT WAS ON THE OVERSHADOWING question of debt that Mr. Anson's speech was most significant, in so far as it reflects the attitude of the Conservative Party for which, of course, he has no official authority to speak. To Mr. Anson there is no mystery about debt bills on the nail. His only concession to the radical policies of these times would be provincial unemployment insurance, the money to be used not in doles but in providing useful work.

It is all right to talk of Utopias, says Mr. Anson, but at present we are living under capitalism and must live accordingly, whether we like it or not. Also, we are living in a fiercely competitive world and it would be madness for us to undertake such reforms as a six-hour day against the competition of other nations. Similarly, we must not extend the moratorium to mortgage interest lest we dry up investment in building as the moratorium on principal has tended to do already. We must pay on the nail.

As Mr. Anson sits down deploring the "growing tendency to disregard the sanctity of contracts," Mr. Pooley says it is the best maiden speech he has heard in the House in twenty years. Mr. Pooley is probably a little prejudiced in favor of Mr. Anson's unyielding Conservatism, but even the government, while disagreeing with it entirely, would agree that it was a good speech.

OPEN SPACES

MR. MURRAY opened the day with a few rough notes on his desk in the form of a dozen huge volumes, altogether about three feet high and weighing several hundred pounds. Mr. Murray's first appearance in the P.G.E. survey reports for the purposes of ornament rather than reference and were not read.

Mr. Murray is the Vancouver newspaper man who invaded Lillooet, captured the Liberal nomination in an interesting convention and finally captured the seat after his famous duel with Major Hartley. It was one of the most notable feats of the election and the House awaited Mr. Murray's first appearance with interest.

He speaks deliberately and at length, with a marked air of sagacity and conviction. Like the stranger who visits a city and soon finds out more about it than the natives, Mr. Murray has come down to the House loaded with facts about the central interior, where the fortunes of politics have landed him. He comes down with a burning ardor and an undimmed faith in his newly-adopted country. He wants better roads, improved service on the P.G.E., encouragement to mining and finally the extension of the railway north, not merely to the Peace River but eventually on to the Mackenzie River basin—a vast national project to put our young men on the land.

MOTHER EARTH

HE IS NOT discouraged by young Mr. Plant's first-hand observations of the sufferings of the settlers already established in the north. Mr. Murray can't agree with these pessimistic reports. He has felt the urge of mother earth and he would put the next generation back on it. How such a mighty project is to be financed, how the new railway is to be built, Mr. Murray did not say in detail, beyond suggesting that we reduce our grants to schools, police and game administration to pay part of it. But he has no doubt that the thing can be done if we have the courage to face the wilderness.

Young Mr. Swales, of the C.C.F., and of Delta, followed him and proceeded, with a curious humbleness and timidity, to debunk this back-to-the-land notion. Under his great mass of curly hair, Mr. Swales looked a little scared as he faced the House for the first time, but in a few moments he was speaking as confidently as anyone, and with much more earnestness and personal knowledge than most.

PIONEERS

GRAPHICALLY, in the most simple language, he pictured the glories of the pioneer, famous in song and story. He sketched a one-roomed shack, with three beds, a man and wife and ten children, a rusty stove, a few cooking utensils, some rags for clothes and a few pairs of rubber boots donated by some charitable organization.

He painted the woman of the house toiling from dawn to dark, the man working sixteen hours a day with tools that an ancient Egyptian would scorn. This is the delightful, care-free life of the pioneer which the armchair farmer of the city likes to talk about over his cocktails, says Mr. Swales, and it is this life that we are gradually trying to bring back to our country. The public tired of the mechanical sameness of the talking pictures, which are more or less, along the same lines with gun-play, drinking and sex very predominant, and it certainly is a very welcome diversion to see something on the stage that is really alive and performing. I wish the change every success, and trust it will continue.

DAY OR CONTRACT WORK

TO THE EDITOR—There was an article in the paper recently stating that the Canadian Construction Association is asking the city to avoid day work and have work done by contract. This would sidestep the very thing for which the work is to be done, viz., provide employment for men who most need it. To have the work done through contractors would simply find employment for the contractors themselves and their immediate relatives and friends, irrespective of their need for work. The work should not be given only to men on relief either, for there are more men who need relief and some on the verge of starvation, but who have used their leisure to build property for themselves and cannot get relief on this account. I could tell you of a man who has to provide himself with food and clothing for his wife and one child under twenty-one, on $13 a month.

The only fair way would be for all men who want work to register at the city hall who should be employed as their names are approached down the list.

The only thing which should be considered is a person's need for work, not whether he is now on relief or whether he is a taxpayer. If men on relief are the only ones to get work, how are the taxpayers going to pay their taxes?

There are scores of men in and around Victoria capable of superintending building work. Suitable men could be placed by getting their credentials.

OUR LOCAL THEATRES

TO THE EDITOR—It is with a great deal of pleasure that one notices that our local theatre managers are gradually trying to bring back vaudeville artists to their respective theatres. The public tired of the mechanical sameness of the talking pictures, which are more or less, along the same lines with gun-play, drinking and sex very predominant, and it certainly is a very welcome diversion to see something on the stage that is really alive and performing. ### DAY OR CONTRACT WORK

TO THE EDITOR—There was an article in the paper recently stating that the Canadian Construction Association is asking the city to avoid day work and have work done by contract. ### "SPEED"

TO THE EDITOR—Humanity of North America can be likened to ants which have had their hill or nest disturbed, and for a time, run in every direction; but eventually, they settle down again to a normal way of living. Have we English-speaking people, of the white race, as much sense as these small insects?

The great war disturbed our Canada, but that was practically twenty years ago, and we are still racing this way and that, mostly upon rubber tires, and not getting anywhere, unless it might be nearer another disastrous war or a revolution. It seems we cannot settle down again to a sane and natural way of living; but must continue to chase dollars, and foolish fun, with the aid of intoxicating drink and nicotine.

When women demanded the vote, and freedom with men, they were going to put "John Barleycorn" out of business, and perhaps the tobacco habit as well. But in this speed-crazy age, there is more booze consumed and cigarettes smoked in Canada, especially by the better class, than ever before. How about it, ladies?

If we, of the white race, are going to waste ourselves with this present-day fast and dissipated living, it will have to be done by the better and influential class of women taking their "natural" and very essential places in homes, as wives and mothers, where they can control humanity in the only "right" way which is, or will ever be, known to nature or science.

A TRAVELED CANUCK

TRANSIENTS

TO THE EDITOR—In a recent issue of your columns of other peoples' views, I read an item of a married man, a returned soldier, who had applied at the relief office for clothing for his children and was refused, being told he was a transient. I have been wondering if the men at our relief bureau really know what a transient is. It is a provocation to look into the English dictionary and find out the meaning. It is high time that something was done to get rid of this sort of red tape. This man had gone to the war, like thousands of others, to fight for his country. When he enlisted they did not tell him it was a provocation that he wanted him to fight for, but that's all over. Here we find that no matter where you go every province has a barrier laid down against the unemployed, yet if some war was to happen to-morrow you would hear the cry, "your country needs you."

Nothing else would matter, how or where you lived. Is it any wonder that our asylums and jails are getting filled every day. Have any of the relief authorities ever thought of what burdens the wives of these soldiers who never returned, have had to carry raising their children only to have them thrown on the streets? Yet when a returned soldier asks for help he is refused. The government can well afford to send the navy on a few months' cruise. The tax payers. Was there anything in the papers about them going away? No. Who is keeping this lashed up? Here we have thousands of men in camps and on relief who barely make a living. The bush camps are run now by the Department of National Defence. I might suggest that if they paid these men the same rates as the soldiers and furnish them clothing, communities could be set up in the provinces and the younger men could get married after they had created a small capital. That way it would relieve the unemployment situation all over Canada and give every man and woman the decent living they deserve. FAIR PLAY.

"I Do Not Think Their Equal Can Be Found For Children"

"I have BABY'S OWN TABLETS in the house continually—I would not be without them. I have given them to each of my four children from earliest infancy. One of the reasons why I value BABY'S OWN TABLETS so highly is because they can be given with perfect safety to even the youngest infant. I have recommended them to dozens of Mothers. For children's ailments I do not think their equal can be found." So writes Mrs. Douglas Blackadar, Hebron, N.S.—and many other Mothers relate similar experiences in treating their children. BABY'S OWN TABLETS are recommended by grateful Mothers for teething fevers, colds, constipation, disordered digestion and sleeplessness. The Tablets are inexpensive, easy to take and thoroughly reliable. And they are absolutely SAFE for even the youngest or most delicate child. See certificate of analysis in each 25-cent package.

London As Interpreted Through Canadian Eyes

Mrs. John Garvin of Toronto Gives Her Reaction to Various Cities

Tells Women's Canadian Club of Majestic War Memorial at Douai

"Cities, like individuals, may be divided into two classes: those we are fond of objectively, and those we love subjectively," declared Mrs. John Garvin of Toronto, whose pseudonym is Katherine Hale, in her address on "Canada in London," before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

GREAT NATURAL CITY
In the latter category she placed London, described by Paul Morin, the French writer, as the "great natural city of the world," in which one is always conscious of the proximity of the country-side, and which is never "closed-up," where the great figures of history impinge upon present-day affairs and where one is conscious of the Londoners' detached attitude towards the great events happening in their midst.

Mrs. Garvin recalled the Canadian Authors' Association conference in England last summer, when Rudyard Kipling, Ian Hay, St. John Ervine and John Galsworthy had been speakers. Arthur Rackham, the illustrator, who was seated next to her, Garvin recalled that in that hall Shakespeare had once staged one of his plays.

Immediately things took on a new perspective. The authors' gathering into its proper place, a greater figure than any there had been moved on that little old shabby stage. And so, "In the luminous glow of London, seemed to take their right place in their relation to life and things."

IMPRESSIONS OF CANADA

The speaker touched upon the aspect of Canada to London, recalling that to J. L. Garvin, the editor of The Spectator, Canada spelled "cold," as he told her that, in reading a projected visit to this Dominion, he had a better coat laid away in mothballs. To another noted Londoner Canada meant nothing, while to Sir Robert Mond, financier and collector, Canada meant the Ontario Museum at Toronto, of whose treasures he seemed to know every detail.

After referring to some of the Great War memorials she had seen in London, including that designed and executed by the March brothers for erection in Ottawa and lately exhibited in Hyde Park, Mrs. Garvin described in detail the Canadian war memorial which is to be erected at Douai.

His Honor the Lieut.-Governor will officiate at an interesting little ceremony to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Queen Alexandra Solarium, when he will unveil the plaque commemorating the part played by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia in the establishment of the institution. A number of the Institute women will be present at the ceremony.

Knowledge. At the foot is the Spirit of Sacrifice with groups of figures representing defenders and sympathizers, while over all is the figure of Canada, bending over an open tomb.

TRIBUTE TO VICTORIA

In conclusion, Mrs. Garvin said: "It seems to me that the smaller cities of the world are the cities of legend. Athens, for instance, and the legend demands that they must have beauty, fairness or loveliness, and strangeness. Matthew Arnold said that there is no great beauty without strangeness. I feel very strongly that there is in Victoria the quality of a legendary city, for it possesses all three things."

A charming poem by Yachell Lindsay, descriptive of what a small town should be, brought the interesting address to a close.

Mrs. Bruce moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael presented Mrs. Garvin with a sheaf of tulips and myrtle stalks.

The soloist of the afternoon was Miss Mae Mason, who accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Oliver Brown, gave charming interpretations of "Spring's Awakening," "Doan's Yo Lifen" and "Kind, Kind and Gentle Is She."

Mrs. Carmichael announced that E. J. Tarr, K.C. would address the club on Wednesday, March 14.

"Quiet Hour" at Cathedral Yesterday Evening Precedes Annual Meeting

Delegates From All Parts of Anglican Diocese at Memorial Hall

In preparation for the annual meeting of the Diocesan Board of Columbia W.A., which opened to-day, a very impressive "quiet hour" was spent in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday evening by a large gathering of members and delegates from up-land branches, who arrived in the city during the day.

Rev. A. Bischofberger of St. John's Church, Duncan, conducted the service in a series of short meditations on St. Paul's teaching with regard to concentration of purpose, also on the W.A. motto, "The love of Christ constraineth us," which contains the essence of true missionary work. In his widest sense the field is the world, and missionary work can be done in the parish, in feeding the lambs of the flock by those who cannot go to distant lands, he said. The W.A. work has the foundations in the Little Helpers and teaches the infant lips to pray for others, an influence that is carried on through life.

At the corporate communion service at 10 a.m. to-day the celebrant was Bishop Schofield of the diocese. The presentation of the thankofferings was made at that service. The service was attended by 178 communicants. The Bishop was assisted by the following clergy: Rev. Canon Chadwick, Rev. Canon Nunns, Rev. H. Lancaster and Rev. R. Comley.

The united thankoffering was presented, amounting to $509.62. The offering was for the Jubilee Fund.

During the recess for luncheon the diocesan display was well-patronized, and is worthy of a visit, showing the articles prepared for the overseas bales, as well as for outfits for the schools. The quilts are varied and wonderfully well made.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. G. F. Hughes and replied to by Mrs. H. V. Hitchcock, expressing thanks to the board for help and encouragement. A delightful surprise was given to the board when Mrs. Quinlan presented a very handsome banner worked by three members of the embroidery guild.

The Dominion vice-president for Western Canada, Mrs. W. H. Beaton, was welcomed on the platform. A welcome was also extended to Mrs. Billibrough of Swift Current, a Dominion life member, and Miss Hadstone, a van worker in Qu'Appelle diocese for several years.

The Columbia Diocesan Board has a membership of 1,830, with 871 Little Helpers in twenty-three branches.

Letters of greeting were received from the Dominion president, Mrs. Fetherbee, and read by the diocesan partner, Livingstone, social service and Columbia Coast Mission secretaries, and an address on Indian work at Alert Bay, by Rev. F. Comley. In a letter of love and good wishes was sent from the board to Mrs. Stannard, who is in hospital.

TO-MORROW'S SESSION
To-morrow morning's session will open with a devotional address by Rev. N. E. Smith of St. Barnabas. The business will include a discussion on the budget; reports of the prayer partner, Livingstone, social service and Columbia Coast Mission secretaries, and an address on Indian work at Alert Bay, by Rev. F. Comley. In a letter of love and good wishes will be sent from the board to Mrs. Stannard, who is in hospital.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, a public missionary meeting will be held. Canon A. E. de L. Nunns will take the chair, and Miss Robbins, a missionary on furlough from China, will be the speaker. This will be followed by a missionary play by St. Mary's Girls' W.A.

OF THE HAIDAS

A. M. D. Fairbairn Describes Queen Charlotte Islanders
to Arts Society

A. M. D. Fairbairn, speaking before the Islands Arts and Crafts Society Monday evening on "The Haida of Queen Charlotte Islands," approached his subject from the point of view of the artist and the playwright, giving a most satisfying and interesting account of his subtle impressions of the beauty and tragedy of this remnant of a superior people in an idealistic setting.

Mr. Fairbairn made it clear at the outset that he was speaking neither ethnologically nor anthropologically. The information acquired by Mr. Fairbairn had been through the old Haida chiefs and from legends, and related to all that they had preserved of interest and value.

Through several sketching sessions in their midst, the native Haida became familiar with Mr. Fairbairn, and he learned much of their characteristics, and their speech. He found them remarkably well educated, especially those of pure blood, who were far superior to the other coast Indians, or to their own people of mixed blood. The young Haida do not speak their language, and the older members of the tribe are dignified, restrained and courteous.

The lecturer had at first hand a description of the armor of other days, fashioned of seal skin with a fibre helmet, visor like in front and similar to that of the Vikings of the north and Caesar's cohorts on land. Trade and commerce called for special boats and the designs of the Haida canoes for grace and speed are noted for their magnificent lines, and excellence of workmanship. Beautiful examples of freestone drawings had been shown him at Skidegate Village, three crests of the oldest families preserved by them with great care, and a valuable gift of copper armor was shown amongst the collection of historical relics which Mr. Fairbairn made during his sojourn in the various settlements.

Mr. Cameron, president of the Islands Arts and Crafts, thanked the speaker for his delightful address. T. S. Gore also speaking in appreciation. At the close of the lecture, refreshments were served and a general discussion followed.

PRINCESS TELLS MONK'S DEATH

Story of Rasputin Recounted in Case in English Law
Court

Associated Press
London, Feb. 28.—The story of how Rasputin, the monk, was killed, was retold yesterday in one of the strangest cases ever heard in an English law court, in which Princess Irina Youssouloff is suing Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Ltd., alleging she was libelled in the film "Rasputin and the Empress."

Princess Youssouloff, who is suing for $200,000 damages, was under cross-examination when the case was adjourned to-day.

She contends the picture depicted the events that led to the killing of Rasputin by Prince Chigodoff in St. Petersburg, but that Rasputin was actually killed by her husband, Prince Felix Youssouloff.

In the picture, the Princess complains, she is represented as Princess Natasha and is libelled.

The secretary of the Metropolitan Hospital said to a reporter: "The child—a boy—was brought to us when a few days old.

PARENTS SENSITIVE
"The parents told us that the tail was evident from birth. It is about two inches long, tapering to a point, and is curly.

"Its position is the same as that of a monkey's tail. It has sensitivity and is apparently formed by normal flesh.

"Apart from this deformity the child is a perfectly healthy baby—and good temper.

"Doctors who have seen the child, and we have had numbers visiting us, tell me that they do not know of any recorded instance of such a deformity. It is something new to medical science.

"The parents, healthy working-class people, who have one child apart from this strange little boy, were agast when they made this remarkable discovery.

"It will be a relief to them to know that surgeons are of opinion that the tail will be removable without affecting the child's health in any way," she said.

UNUSUAL BUT NOT UNKNOWN
Professor Julian Huxley told a reporter: "The development of a tail is an unusual, but not unknown, phenomenon among human beings.

"Different parts of the body develop at different rates during the embryonic stage. Usually the tail does not develop at all, but in this case, apparently, it has grown almost at the same rate as the other parts of the body."

"In the rare instances in which such phenomena have appeared they have seldom reached a length of two inches."

Proper Foods Containing Necessary Vitamins and Minerals
Essential, Although Cleaning Is Just As Necessary

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

So much has been written about the relationship of diet to the teeth that you might get the idea that it is unnecessary hereafter to clean the teeth properly or to have the cavities taken care of by a dentist. In fact, the dentists themselves are partially responsible, because they have promoted a great deal of publicity on the subject.

You may have been told that if you will take just enough orange juice or lemon juice or enough ultra-violet rays or enough cod liver oil, your teeth will grow satisfactorily. Actually, of course, none of the evidence thus far produced is conclusive.

It is admitted generally by physicians, nutrition experts, and dentists that the structure of the teeth of both men and animals depends largely on an adequate supply of vitamin D. It is also well known that the purpose of vitamin D is to make the calcium and phosphorus in the body available for growth.

It seems reasonable to believe, therefore, that a diet rich in calcium and phosphorus and containing a sufficient amount of vitamin D will do a great deal to prevent development of dental decay.

A group of investigators in England has come to the conclusion that diets that are rich in cereals are bad for teeth, because they believe cereals contain some substance that is opposed to calcification.

It is said that the eating of milk, eggs, cheese, animal and fish fats, and vegetables must be increased greatly to overcome the tendency to dental decay, and correspondingly the amount of cereals should be reduced.

Children should be nursed by their mothers or by wet nurses for at least nine months to a year, and their diet should be supplemented at the age of six months with some iron and vitamin C.

Moreover, cod liver oil, or some other method of supplying vitamins A and D in adequate amounts, should be provided to all infants and children.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily
Mixed at Home

No Cooking! No Work! Real Savings!

You'll never know how quickly a cough can be cured. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's so simple at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinet; then add granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine. Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs. Pinet is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, used for generations for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

"Does It Pay to Be Honest?" Queries Youth
Just Starting Out in Life—Even in Business,
Affirms Dorothy Dix, For While Honesty
Will Not Make Up For Poor Judgment, Added to Business Acumen It Inspires Success

IN THE CURRENT issue of a popular magazine is a letter from a boy in which he asks: "Does it pay to be honest?" He very frankly admits as old stuff, not applicable to this advanced age when chicanery seems to him to have the call over virtue. He thinks that the crooked way is the short cut between poverty and riches, and, as he wants money now while he is young, without having to wait to earn it by slow labor, that is the path he intends to take.

The lad has reached this conclusion, he asserts, because of the observation of those about him, and especially of the case of his own father, who is an honest merchant who has given fair weights and measures, yet has barely made a meagre living, while his rival merchant who has cheated and chiselled is rich and prosperous. Nor is the poor but honest man held up as an object of admiration and veneration by his neighbors. He is ignored, where, as the prosperous grafter is the most popular man in the community. All of which makes the boy ask, as do many other boys and girls of to-day whose sense of values has become confused, if it pays to be good?

Of course one might say to the boy that the primal purpose of being decent is not material gain. One does not put a price-tag on one's principles. One does not say: I will not lie because truth fetches a higher price in the market than deceit. Nor does one say: I will not steal because there is more percentage in honesty than there is in theft.

One is honest and clean and honorable in one's dealings because one's self-respect demands it, because it would be abhorrent to one to stoop to doing dirty little tricks. One would not think of the matter in terms of dollars and cents, and the reward for going straight would not be collected in money, but in being right with one's own soul and able to look oneself in the face. And that is a very great reward indeed. Worth many, many millions to those who feel that way about it.

In spite, however, of the boy's observation of the wicked who flourish like the green bay tree and of the righteous who so often wither away and perish, it DOES PAY to tread the straight and narrow way, and honesty IS the best policy. And especially for a boy just starting out in life to seek his fortune honesty is the star quality, the best recommendation that he can possibly possess. For what every business man is looking for are honest employees. Men they can trust. Men who do not pilfer, nor short change, nor pad accounts. Many a dull and not too efficient man holds a fine job just because he is honest.

Not long ago I heard two business men discussing this subject. One asked the other: "Why didn't you give A. that situation?" He is a go-getter and thoroughly knows his job. "That's right," replied the first man, "but in trying to sell himself to me he just told one story after another about how he had gotten certain contracts by misrepresentation and crooked methods. He thought he was showing me how clever he was, but I don't do business that way, and, besides, I've got sense enough to know that a man who would cheat others would cheat me."

Presently the other man asked: "I saw X. to-day. Down and out and walking on his uppers. I wonder why he never made good?" He has always lost out, yet he has had a number of big chances. He has energy and ability and personality, every qualification for success. "Except one," said the other man, "and that's the most important qualification of all. Honesty. His firms couldn't trust him and so they let him go."

There are many reasons why men fail, but they do not fail because they are honest. A man may be as honest as the sun and yet fail because he lacks judgment, because he lacks business acumen, because he lacks energy and initiative, because he thinks more about his fishing or golf than he does his business, because he does not keep up with the times. Honesty doesn't atone for these faults; but, everything else being even, we will all deal every time with men whose weights and measures we can trust and whose bills we do not have to check over.

Practically every business in the world has been built up on a foundation of honesty, and what has happened to those who abandoned this principle we are seeing now exemplified in broken banks and wrecked fortunes and disgraced men who have been dragged down from high places into the dust of humiliation.

In reality there is nothing that is so much exaggerated as the wages of sin. They are supposed to be fabulous and the ideal prevails, especially among the young, that if you are willing to steal you can roll in riches. Nothing is further from the truth. The warden of a penitentiary is authority for the statement that the average earnings of even a successful burglar are not as much as a day laborer's. Men become outlaws from society, they risk their lives and prison cells for less than they could make by honest work. Not much of a bargain.

Thousands of boys, like the writer of this letter, who think that honesty doesn't pay, and who desire to get rich quick, have taken what they consider the easiest way. They have become gunmen, kidnapers, racketeers, crooks of every kind. Hundreds of them lie in dishonored graves. Hundreds are serving terms in prison. There is not one of them who has made a fortune and who occupies a respectable position in society, and who has the prospect of a useful and honored life before him.

But there are tens of thousands of upright, honorable young men who have chosen to keep their hands clean who are prospering and succeeding.

For it DOES PAY to be honest.

PINNED TO BED BY LUMBAGO

Scarcely Moved for Weeks

Thanks Kruschen for Return to Fitness

Acting on his principle of "when you know a good thing tell your friends about it," a man who has had very bad lumbago writes as follows:—"I had suffered from lumbago in my back, and for weeks could scarcely move in bed. I had treatment, but it did not ease the pain very much. A friend said, 'Why man! Why don't you take Kruschen Salts? Take them every morning, and you'll find you will get relief from your awful pain.' So I took Kruschen Salts every morning. This is the second bottle I have had, and I am in it condition. My work again—thanks to the Kruschen. I will surely tell my friends about Kruschen Salts. I will be free from them in my house."

—C. B.
Why is it that lumbago, backache, rheumatism and indigestion all yield so swiftly to Kruschen Salts? What is the secret of Kruschen's effectiveness against the whole army of common complaints?

OPERA IN ENGLAND PROVES 'WASHOUT'

No Good Singers There, Says Beecham, Urging Ambitious Ones to Leave Country

London, Feb. 28.—"Opera in Great Britain is a 'washout,'" declared Sir Thomas Beecham at the annual conference of the Incorporated Society of Musicians in London.

"There is no future at all for opera or opera singers here," said the man who has struggled so long to establish opera in Britain. "Nobody wants opera seriously enough to put their hands to the task of getting it."

Sir Thomas deplored the lack of encouragement to British singers resulting from the absence of a stable, established opera in this country. He said that he had advised half the singers he knew to leave England and settle abroad if they really wanted to become serious artists.

Another difficulty, springing largely from this lack of opportunity and encouragement, was the lack of stable operatic voices among English singers. Good dramatic sopranos and heavy bass baritones, for example, did not exist in England.

"I bet £100 to a brass farthing that no such voices are to be found in this country or in the British Empire," declared Sir Thomas.

Even the excellent English tenors generally were rather light, so that when they went to Italy they had to "believe" and "become" the tenors of the country. Sir Thomas admitted that there was an excellent popular opera on a limited scale in London (Old Vic and Sadler's Wells), and an exotic, highly specialized foreign opera for a month or six weeks in summer. But apart from that there was nothing in the country.

Sir Thomas concluded by saying that he was skeptical of the British Broadcasting Corporation being able to act as a satisfactory patron of permanent, high-class opera in Britain. So he urged musicians who wanted a Ministry of Fine Arts with authority and independence, such as continental countries possessed, to agitate for it determinedly.

Sister Mary's KITCHEN

HORSE RADISH GIVES 'POINT' TO MANY DISHES

The tang of horse radish has a decided tonic effect at the dinner table, and the clever cook uses it to good advantage in many combinations.

Roast beef with its horse radish sauce is a time-honored combination, but there are many other foods, vegetables and meats, that gain interest by a suggestion of this useful root.

Broiled or boiled fish, real pork, and ham are vastly improved if served with a horse radish sauce of some description. The sauce may be hot or cold as preferred. And while horse radish itself has little fuel value, the sauce to which it is added increases the food worth of the meal by many calories according to its ingredients. With a meat or fish lacking in fat a rich sauce is desirable.

Many vegetables and salads—acquired "point" by the addition of a bit of grated horse radish. Just as a bit of bread in French dressing adds an interesting flavor, so a little horse radish is needed to give pep in numerous instances. Mild flavored vegetables such as spinach and green beans become flavorful and savory when seasoned lightly with horse radish.

SPINACH WITH HORSE RADISH CREAM

Two cups, cooked and chopped spinach, one tablespoon butter, one-half cup cream, one teaspoon grated horse radish, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half teaspoon salt. Put butter, cream, horse radish and salt in a sauce pan. Add prepared spinach and stir over the fire until very hot. Add lemon juice and serve at once.

An excellent sauce for steamed fish is made by adding four tablespoons prepared horse radish to two cups rich cream sauce. The sauce should be made when wanted for serving because the acid of the horse radish will curdle it.

Horse radish cream and horse radish butter are delicious with roast beef, cold roast, baked ham and broiled fish.

HORSE RADISH CREAM (COLD)

One-half cup whipping cream; four tablespoons prepared horse radish, one teaspoon sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt.

Chill cream and horse radish as well as bowl and beater. Whip cream until firm. Add remaining ingredients and serve.

HORSE RADISH BUTTER

One-half cup butter, two tablespoons fresh grated horse radish, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt.

Mix fresh grated horse radish, lemon juice, sugar and salt. Work butter with a fork until creamy. Beat in horse radish mixture and continue beating until thick and white.

To-morrow's Menu

Breakfast: Hot buttered toast, cereal cooked with figs, cream, crisp broiled bacon, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Lunch: Chicken salad, sticks, onion sandwiches, cup cakes, grape juice.

Dinner: Ham and potatoes en casserole, spinach with horse radish cream, pineapple and celery salad, cottage pudding with maple sauce, milk, coffee.

MILL MAY OPERATE

New Westminster, Feb. 28. The plant is being inspected with a view to making necessary repairs and a definite announcement concerning operation will be made likely within the next few weeks. Recently the shingle mill at the plant was started again.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1934

Conflicting planetary aspects are discerned in the horoscope for to-day, according to astrology. The early hours are more promising than later periods between sunrise and sunset.

This is an auspicious day for persons in authority, who should be able to make their aims and ambitions understood.

The planetary government favors initiative and certainly the spring as it advances will prove advantageous to business and the professions, if the stars are rightly read.

During March Neptune and Mars are powerful. Much agitation regarding war defence and preparedness may be expected. Strange and mysterious crimes are suggested. Astrologers predict that an outbreak of the underworld organization is to arouse intense public anxiety and indignation.

Women are to engage in reform movements. It is foretold, and secret societies are to multiply.

Manufacturers should profit within the span of the summer, which is to bring extraordinary world complications with attendant excitement.

Lawyers are to demand reforms among members of the bar, for in many places attorneys devoid of honor will aid criminals and release enemies of society from prison.

In the evening of this day tendency toward argument and even invective is indicated. It is not an auspicious time for caucuses or conferences.

Much deceit and double-dealing is indicated in political and governmental matters. Do stars encourage secret methods in many sorts of associations.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the surgery of a year of unusual experiences in which they should be on the lookout for hidden motives.

Children on this day probably will be independent in spirit, honest and industrious. Both boys and girls may be romantic and fond of music. Many meet expression through writing.

William Dean Howells, author, was born on this day, 1837. Others who have celebrated it a birthday include Alexander Balfour, 1767, Scottish poet, and Lionel Atwill, 1885, actor.

Hitler de Facto King Of Germany

Nazis Totalling 1,017,000 Join in Oath of Obedience to Him

Associated Press

Munich, Germany, Feb. 28.—Adolf Hitler has become the de facto sovereign of Germany. In a ceremony equal in pomp to the ancient Roman triumphs, more than 1,000,000 Nazis throughout the Reich swore obedience to him personally on Sunday.

A blare of trumpets announced the arrival shortly before 10.30 a.m. of Rudolf Hess, Chancellor Hitler's personal representative, who presided at Sunday's ceremony. In Munich's famous Koenig Square 300,000 Nazi banners waved in the light of a warm spring-like sun, while columns of column of "Antwarte," or officers of the various political, economic, professional, social and labor organizations constituting separate Nazi divisions, marched by.

The whole Reich was connected with Munich in a nation-wide communication hook-up. Precisely at 10.30 o'clock, Reich leaders of the manifold Nazi organizations joined with thousands of other sub-leaders in repeating the following:

"I swear unshakable fidelity to Adolf Hitler and unquestioning obedience to him and the leaders designated for me by him."

Hess then mounted the rostrum, and paying glowing tribute to Germany's Great War dead, defended the necessity for Nazi storm troops.

In all, 1,017,000 Nazi functionaries joined in the oath, which marked the fourteenth anniversary of the founding of the Nazi party. They duplicated what more than 3,000,000 storm troopers and Steel Helmet veterans automatically did when they joined the brown battalions—gave a pledge which otherwise is given to royalty only.

Well-known Firm Shows Record of Steady Expansion

Growth of Jameson Electrical Limited Marked By Recent Acquisition of Firm of Hawkins & Hayward; Company Invites Public to Official Opening of New Quarters

Climaxing two years of steady expansion, the Jameson's Electrical Limited has set to-morrow for the official opening of its handsome new premises at the corner of Douglas Street and View Street.

The company extends a cordial invitation to the public to visit the new quarters at any time.

Interesting exhibits of the most up-to-date electrical appliances known to science have been arranged; and an estimating contest, for which a splendid big General Electric radio is the prize, will unquestionably arouse a great deal of interest. The contest is open to any visitor to the store during the period of the official opening, from March 1 to March 10.

The growth of the business of this firm was recently marked by the acquisition of the business of Hawkins & Hayward. The premises, occupied by the latter for many years, have been completely remodeled, and redecorated.

"It is our intention," said G. E. MacDonald, general manager of Jameson's Electrical, to-day, "to offer the people of Victoria and the Island a first-class electrical service, complete and up-to-date in every respect. In our departments of radio sales and repairs, household appliances, contracting and electrical repairs, the Jameson's Electrical service will be found to be absolutely modern and efficient."

Such has been the nature of the steady expansion of the Jameson's Electrical business here that in acquiring Hawkins & Hayward it was in a position to retain the staffs of both firms.

The firm specializes in General Electric products, carrying a complete line of equipment and wiring supplies.

Chief among the displays arranged for the public is a new General Electric kitchen. This is equipped with very wonderful appliances to save the time and energy of the housewife and is expected to attract much attention from visitors to the store.

SENATE NOMINEE IS KNOWN HERE

Burt Lyon, owner of The Marine Chisel in Oak Bay, and a widely-known visitor to Victoria, has been named the Democratic nominee for state senator of Santa Clara County, California, according to word which has reached here. Mr. Lyon is a resident of Los Gatos, Santa Clara County.

He regularly visits this city and many of his local friends will be pleased to hear of the honor which has been accorded. An interesting note regarding Mr. Lyon is printed in the editorial columns of The San Jose Evening News, a Republican publication, which states: "In our mind the Democratic party could have selected no better candidate than they have chosen as nominee for state senator. He is a square shooter, a scholarly gentleman—always interested in county and state, as well as national politics and ought to carry the full vote of the party."

Six-hour Day And Insurance Linked With Finance Plan

the basis of all business," referring to what he termed "a seemingly growing disregard for the sanctity of covenants."

"I am convinced," he said, "there are but two solutions possible to the unemployment problem, one of which could by no means be undertaken by the province—the other could, in a limited way, be done provincially, but should not be so handled."

The first is a question of a universal six-hour day for labor among the white races; this could only be accomplished by universal consent, and through the agency of the League of Nations or some other such body. It would be futile and absurd for British Columbia or even Canada to attempt it alone under the present world competition.

INSURANCE PLAN
"Secondly comes the question of contributory employment insurance—not unemployment insurance. Here again it is not a provincial matter, although, like the honorable member for Saanich (N. W. Whitaker), I readily agree if the federal government does not institute a scheme, and they may find it extremely difficult to do so because of the attitude of the province of Quebec—then British Columbia should at once, not when things get better, undertake it. It must be done on a proper actuarial basis and the fund allowed to grow and accumulate for a period of years before it can be called upon to fill its function of taking care of the unemployed. Neither is it my idea that the fund should be just doled out. When the necessity arises the money should be used to pay for labor only on constructive government undertakings, free entirely from party control."

Mr. Anson explained at considerable length his financing scheme, doubting very much the government's ability to reduce interest on the provincial debt. The average charge, he pointed out, was 4.50 per cent, none of the issues were callable before maturity. It would be futile to try and get the bondholders to consent to a reduction in interest and if any attempt was made without this consent it was repudiation whether the debt was used or not. In this connection he explained that the action in England along this line was done on callable issues, and not the type of bonds issued by the province.

DEBT FUNDING SCHEME
Briefly, his proposal scheme for the debt was outlined as follows:

"The Legislature should settle the amount of debt that in its wisdom should be considered as a permanent debt of the province. Having done that, as loans fall due, up to that agreed figure, they should be refunded on a callable basis—that is, a loan which will never be redeemed, and in consequence of it, no sinking fund in the future will be required. It would be a permanent debt; they should be issued at the lowest possible interest—and this will never be done successfully until the government of the day—no matter what government it is—balanced its budget by reducing—reducing—expenditure and eliminating every conceivable item of cost, that any ordinary business undertaking would have to do under similar circumstances. When this is done, as interest rates recede, they can be recalled and returned at lower rates and so left there."

ON SERIAL BASIS

"I am inclined to believe also that future issues should be made on a serial basis rather than on a sinking fund basis—for the balance of the debt which is not issued as consols. It is not only cheaper to do so, but I can visualize the day when if conditions continue as at present, not only the government, but the municipalities, will gradually slip away from providing at all the sinking funds required. As a matter of fact, I think that the late government agreed to that during the last session, for to do so, a very bad piece of legislation indeed.

MORATORIUM RUINOUS

He took up also the question of the mortgage moratorium on which legislation has been forecast, declaring that as a result of the measure already passed on this matter mortgaged money had almost ceased to flow into industries. If relief were also applied in the direction of interest, as has been intimated, building construction in the province would cease where in the past it was required and the labor situation would only be aggravated.

On the subject of municipalities he mentioned his own part in the royal commission which sat last year, and stressed the immediate need for some remedy.

REDUCE LEGISLATION

Reduction of the Legislature from forty-seven to twenty-five members with the cutting out of some of the capital representation was advocated by Mr. Anson.

After the usual congratulatory remarks to the Speaker, the government and the leader of the opposition in his contribution to the debate, Mr. Anson declared the debate on the Speech from the Throne should have been done away with except for statements of policy by the respective leaders. It was merely a waste of time, he said.

He was disappointed that a redistribution bill was not immediately proposed to cut down the size of the Legislature. It could be reduced from forty-seven to twenty-five members, he declared, and the capital itself could do without some of its four members.

"That I may not be considered as singling out a farming community," said the speaker, "let me refer to our own city, the capital city of the province. Is there anyone who for a moment conceives that it requires four members to represent the 40,000 people domiciled within the electoral limits of Victoria while the same city is represented federally by one member?"

The next matter he took up was the lateness with which annual reports of departments reach members of the House. Those presented this session ran from eleven months to more than a year old, and were practically useless as an efficient guide to the members, he said. To remedy this the government should either change the end of the fiscal year from March 31 to December 31, or else convene the House three months after the expiry of the fiscal year.

INQUIRE INTO SHEEP MENACE

Metchosin Sheep Breeders Take Action; F. Waide Re-elected President

Metchosin, Feb. 28.—Metchosin Sheep Breeders' Association, at the annual meeting held Monday night, decided to have a delegation investigate the cougar and sheep-killing dog menace. A large number of sheep have been worried in the district of late not only by cougars, but by large dogs.

Election of officers for the year resulted as follows: President, F. Waide; secretary, Fergus Reid; vice-president, Gavin Weir; directors, Messrs. Edwards, Ball, Rainey and Locke; auditor, W. Milsted. The financial report showed a substantial balance and a successful year was predicted.

Among other business it was decided that at the annual sheep fair, to be held in June, a sheep dog trial will be held, open to competitors from Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands. Mr. Harrison, president of the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association, gave a short talk on wool and mutton, and Mr. Smith of the Farmers' Advisory Board and a representative from the Canadian wool growers spoke.

Prairie Artist Visiting City

Frederick G. Cross, Whose Water Colors Are Widely Known, Holidaying Here

Frederick G. Cross, well-known prairie artist of Brooks, Alta., who has made sketching and painting his life hobby, has arrived in the city with Mrs. Cross to spend a holiday, and expects to remain here for several weeks.

In a talk at the Empress Hotel this morning, Mr. Cross said that he was just "holidaying," but admitted that he might do a little brush work while here.

Mr. Cross was recently elected a member of the Canadian Society of Painters in Water Color, but he has been painting prairie scenes for many years, having come to this country from the United Kingdom in the railroad construction days.

One of his paintings was displayed in the C.P.R. exhibit at the World Exposition in 1923, and in the following year he won the Engineering Institute of Canada's competition for the designing of a war memorial tablet in bronze.

Mr. Cross, in 1931, exhibited at the Royal Canadian Academy, and since then he has painted many water colors. In 1933 his work was displayed in all the important exhibitions in Canada and two of his pictures were included in the Canadian collection of water colors sent for exhibition at the Royal Scottish Academy in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Some of Mr. Cross's prairie pictures which have received wide recognition include: "Drought," "The Open Range," and "Head of the Herd," the latter a study of the boss of the P-D Bar Ranch's herd at Duchess, Alta.

Sales Agreement Act to Be Altered

Attorney-general Sloan introduced in the House yesterday a bill to amend the Conditional Sales Act to preserve the principle enforced in British Columbia since 1904, that chattels subject to conditional sale which become affixed to the land shall, nevertheless, retain their character as for as the rights of the seller are concerned.

The amending sections have become necessary by reason of a decision of the Court of Appeal of Ontario.

The bill also requires the re-registration of the conditional bills of sale every three years. This to simplify searches by parties interested.

ISLAND SCENES WILL BE SHOWN

Pictures at City Temple Will Depict Scenic Beauty of Vancouver Island

A treat in store for the City Temple congregation this evening, when an elaborate series of pictures of Vancouver Island, not shown previously to the general public, will be presented. Motion and still pictures will be exhibited. Under the heading of the latter will be a group showing of the national parks of British Columbia, including the Yoho, Kootenay and Glacier National parks. Included in this group will be views also of Vancouver Island.

Under the motion picture heading will be two absolutely new reels of Vancouver Island. These pictures are most attractive, and Victoria is fortunate in seeing them for the first time.

Scenes of the national parks of Canada will also be shown in motion pictures. These views will be shown through the courtesy of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. The exhibition will start at 8:15 o'clock, preceded by one-half hour of music.

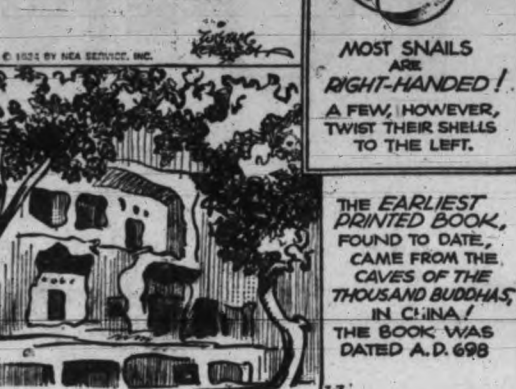

The public service veterans' branch of the Canadian Legion, B.S.S.L., announces a brisk and steady demand for tickets for its first annual ball in the Empress Hotel, on Friday night next. At the same time, the committee declares its intention of restricting the sale to the known capacity of the ballroom, having in mind the comfort and enjoyment of the guests as a first consideration. It is unlikely that many tickets will be available on the night of the ball, and intending patrons are asked to secure their tickets now.

OFFICERS OF CLUB ELECTED

C. H. French New Head of Automobile Body; T. J. Goodlake Acting Secretary

C. H. French was Monday evening elected president of the Victoria Automobile Club at the annual meeting held in the Pemberton Building. The complete slate of officers, as recommended by the nomination committee, was as follows: Honorary president, A. T. Duffell; past president, Colonel J. Lightbody; president, C. H. French; vice-president, D. B. McTavish; treasurer, S. M. Armstrong; directors, W. T. Straith, J. V. Johnson, E. H. Wilson, J. Partitt and Alderman T. W. Hawkins.

Reporting on the last year's activities, Colonel Lightbody, retiring president, stated that the membership and activities of the club had been well maintained through a difficult year.

The report of the auditors, Ismay, Bolton and Holden was presented and adopted unanimously.

The president reported that, in the absence of the secretary, E. Webb, through illness, the board had appointed T. J. Goodlake acting secretary.

After routine matters had been disposed of, an animated discussion took place on subjects of general interest to motorists. Several recommendations were made to the incoming board for action, with a view to improvement of the amenities of motoring. It is hoped that an association of automobile clubs of British Columbia, which has been planned for some time, will be formed shortly.

J. Mackay, chief clerk of the provincial forestry branch in Vancouver, will retire at the end of March, by provincial order-in-council.

SUPPORT SOUGHT FOR SEED FAIR

CRYSTAL GARDEN DANCING CHANGE

Friday Evening Dance Is Transferred to Wednesday, Starting To-night

Responding to numerous requests of its patrons, the Crystal Garden is changing its policy in regard to dancing, and will run dances on Wednesday and Saturday only. The substitution of Wednesday instead of the usual Friday evening dance is in order to cater to those who are at liberty on Friday nights.

The south ballroom, overlooking the warm sea water pool, has been newly decorated, and some of the most beautiful palms in British Columbia have been placed about the ballroom floor, gaily lighted with jonquil lamps and shades. The new stage, placed along the walls and the whole atmosphere created is one which is unequalled in Victoria.

The first of these Wednesday evening affairs will take place to-night when a special dance will be held to celebrate the opening of the British Columbia annual Seed Fair. Fred Parfitt's orchestra will be in attendance, and his orchestra is preparing a new series of popular dance music.

Patrons of this special dance will have the privilege of visiting the Seed Fair without any charge. The fair, which has been titled to participate in the estimated contest for the cash prizes being offered. It is expected that a large number of people will avail themselves of this opportunity to combine education in British Columbia products with three hours of dancing to one of Victoria's finest dance orchestras amid tropical splendor.

POTATO BUGS START FIGHT

Federal and Provincial Authorities Differ on Destruction of Shipment

A clash between federal and provincial officials over disposition of a shipment of potatoes which arrived here over the week-end and was found to contain the larvae of the tuber moth, resulted to-day in a protest being forwarded by Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, to Ottawa.

Provincial authorities claim the entire shipment in which the larvae was found should be destroyed to block any possibility of the destructive pest becoming active in the province. It is said to be one of the most fearful moths in the category of growers of tuberous products.

Federal officials have ordered the shipment only fumigated after which it would be admitted, and this resulted in the minister's protest to Ottawa.

LATE ORANGES NOT SUCCESS

Experimental Shipments of Japanese Mandarins After Christmas Prove Failure

Trial shipments of Japanese mandarin oranges this year, the last of which only reached the city a week ago, have proved that this fruit is not suitable for exportation later than the end of December.

Four consignments in all reached Victoria after the festive season. The first, in the very early days of January, arrived in good condition and showed a certain amount of shrinkage, and had to be repacked with loss before being put on the retail market. The third shipment showed heavy shrinkage before repacking, and in almost all cases developed a proportion of bad fruit between repacking and retailing. Purchasers often found that the fruit was rotten within a few days of buying.

The last shipment showed very heavy shrinkage before repacking, and in almost all cases developed a proportion of bad fruit between repacking and retailing. Purchasers often found that the fruit was rotten within a few days of buying.

The mandarins oranges come into season in November. By the end of December their vitality is gone, wholesalers state. They cannot stand the voyage from the producing country to the consumer and cannot be stored on arrival.

Wholesalers announce that no future post-Christmas shipments of the fruit will be made. Many times they have experienced heavy losses in storing and selling various fruits out of season, but in no case have the attempts been successful.

PORT ALBERNI

Port Alberni, Feb. 28.—In honor of Miss Freda Hilton, daughter of Dr. C. T. and Mrs. Hilton, who is leaving for Montreal to take up post graduate work at the Children's Memorial Hospital, Miss Mamie McDonald, R.N., of the staff of the West Coast Hospital, entertained with four tables of bridge at her home yesterday afternoon, when the invited guests included Mrs. C. T. Hilton, Mrs. R. J. Burde, Mrs. J. B. Wood, Mrs. C. McPry, Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Mrs. M. V. Duncan, Mrs. J. A. McMillan, Mrs. H. E. Riddings, Mrs. Elmer Glasspie, Mrs. Roy Hanna, Mrs. H. Carter, Mrs. F. Weaver, Mrs. Cliff Pines, Mrs. R. Diment, Mrs. J. Redford, Mrs. Betty Hilton, Mrs. J. A. McMillan, Miss Agnes Patterson, Miss Billy Wood, Miss Belle Frost, Miss Effie Love and Miss Marjory Brown.

Another hostess who entertained for Miss Hilton this afternoon at the tea hour was Mrs. H. Preston Nightingale (nee Miss Margaret Burde) who returned from her wedding trip on Saturday. Present were Mrs. John Williamson, Mrs. J. B. McCallum, Mrs. W. D. Higgs, Mrs. Leslie Toder, Mrs. C. Fry, Miss Wilma Wood, Miss Christine Ross, Mrs. M. Duncan, Miss Mamie McDonald, Miss Gertrude Hillias, Miss Evelyn Hanes, Miss Christine Blair, Miss Helen Manning of Spross Lake. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. J. Burde.

Charles Stephen Richards, husband of the owner of premises at 1212 Princess Avenue, told the court that on the night of February 9, while George Paton, the husband, who is his wife's brother, had been staying with them, the accused had climbed a ladder and gained entrance to the bedroom, which her husband was occupying.

The incident had occurred at about 1:45 o'clock in the morning and witness said the accused before she entered the room. He awakened George Paton, he testified, moving him into another room, and when witness had climbed into the bedroom and come out into the kitchen he asked her what she wanted. She was carrying a hammer, she testified, and she had come to do a job she failed to do before, referring to a former occasion when she had been in the house intent upon breaking her husband's nose. He testified he held her pending arrival of the police, to prevent her striking her husband.

Witness admitted the allegations made by the prosecution upon taking the stand. "The night of the first occasion when she had visited 1212 Princess Avenue, she said, she had seen her husband in a beer parlor and he had humiliated her by coming up to her table and standing for half an hour saying, 'Ha, ha, kid,' she said, because he was laughing at her because he had beaten her in a court case, witness said.

"He kept on saying this, and I grew heated and picked up a chair and heaved it at him," continued the witness. "I missed him though because of a sort of numb I had."

She then told of going to the house later intent upon equalizing the score with her husband because of the humiliation she had suffered. She had been prevented from doing anything by Mr. and Mrs. Richards, she said. Following this incident, she returned to the house a week later in an effort to settle with her husband by climbing in through his bedroom window and reaching him that way, she admitted.

The court stated the matter would be stood over until Friday morning and in the meantime warned Mrs. Paton to keep away from her husband. Gordon Cameron, defence counsel, pleaded for leniency and asked that his client be bound over to keep the peace on suspended sentence. She was firmly convinced an injustice had been done, she testified.

The Victoria and District Boys' Work Board is called to meet in the Y.M.C.A. this evening at 8 o'clock to discuss a number of things that have arisen during the past month. All members are requested to be present and all Sunday school teachers are invited to attend as well as leaders of boys groups.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

An entirely new departure in motion picture settings is represented in the unique backgrounds designed by Cedric Gibbons for "When Ladies Meet," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, which is at the Playhouse Theatre, with Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery co-starring.

Most interesting in the quaint settings is the country home, supposedly rebuilt from an old stable, in which much of the action takes place. Architects and interior decorators sought entry to the settings during the making of the picture to study its original treatment of a modernized early American period.

CLARA BOW reached new heights as an emotional actress in "Hoopla," her second Fox Film release which opened at the Capitol Theatre to-day, and is scheduled to remain for an engagement of three days.

The story concerns itself with a vivacious young carnival dancer who, on a bet, attempts to win the love of a young man who is the carnival barker's son. It is not a difficult task for this finished lady, and she soon captures the heart of the boy. But the sincerity of the younger and his naive manner work a change in the nature of the dancer, and she finds herself involved in a true romance.

As the carnival dancer, Clara plays her role with astonishing versatility and finish. It is by far the most important production she has had to date, and she carries her part with remarkable results. The supporting members of the cast are: Preston Foster, Richard Cromwell, Minna Gombel, Herbert Mundin, James Gleason, Roger Imhof and Florence Roberts.

Also shown is Warner Baxter in "As Husbands Go."

Airplanes, garish with living beauties provide some of the amazing and thrilling spectacles of RKO-Real Pictures' musical extravaganza, "Flying Down to Rio," coming to the Dominion Theatre this week.

The ships, with some 150 girls strapped to wings, struts and braces, soared through the air over beautiful Rio de Janeiro in the production's spectacular climax. Other girls performed dances on the wings, making the production the first musical show ever staged in mid-air.

Featured roles are played by Dolores Del Rio, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Gene Raymond and Raul Roulien, Thornton Freeland directed.

Airplanes, garish with living beauties provide some of the amazing and thrilling spectacles of RKO-Real Pictures' musical extravaganza, "Flying Down to Rio," coming to the Dominion Theatre this week.

The ships, with some 150 girls strapped to wings, struts and braces, soared through the air over beautiful Rio de Janeiro in the production's spectacular climax. Other girls performed dances on the wings, making the production the first musical show ever staged in mid-air.

Featured roles are played by Dolores Del Rio, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Gene Raymond and Raul Roulien, Thornton Freeland directed.

CLARA BOW reached new heights as an emotional actress in "Hoopla," her second Fox Film release which opened at the Capitol Theatre to-day, and is scheduled to remain for an engagement of three days.

The story concerns itself with a vivacious young carnival dancer who, on a bet, attempts to win the love of a young man who is the carnival barker's son. It is not a difficult task for this finished lady, and she soon captures the heart of the boy. But the sincerity of the younger and his naive manner work a change in the nature of the dancer, and she finds herself involved in a true romance.

CHOIR SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Victoria Ladies' Choir Heard in Fine Programme; Assisting Soloists Please

By G. J. D.

It was quite evident that good intent was to be the order of the evening, as it proved, in all the Victoria Ladies' Choir set out to do in its sixth regular evening at the Shrine Auditorium. Since the choir's inception, it has not only spoken, but has given an artistic account of itself.

Its director, Mrs. D. W. Dillworth, seemingly has the happy faculty of coaxing the singers to give of their very best. Under his indications, he does not use a baton—the choir never subdues its voices, but rather, in its response there is precision, plasticity, assurance and interpretive skill, in all of which lie its noteworthy features. And how well too do the words come over, so that in these characteristics, it is no wonder the discriminating audience failed to find fault with their artistic and enthusiastic applause greeting the several numbers.

FINE PROGRAMME
The choir, as we all are of the continuing past and present, the inclusion of the works of our own composers yesterday was a very gratifying feature. It was followed by other local organizations. These were: Geoffrey Shaw's "How Far is it to Bethlehem," in which the choir sang a beautiful setting of Herrick's poem, "The Christmas Eve," which was a beautiful singing; the Holst group, in which the strings of the Victoria High School orchestra participated; "O Swallow, Swallow," "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," from "The Princess," (Tennyson), and "Love On a Heath" from "The Idylls of the King," which was a beautiful singing; the Holst group, in which the strings of the Victoria High School orchestra participated; "O Swallow, Swallow," "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," from "The Princess," (Tennyson), and "Love On a Heath" from "The Idylls of the King," which was a beautiful singing.

Jimmy Evans Makes Sensational Climb

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM BEATEN

Drop 3 to 1 Decision to Hillside Rovers in Friendly Soccer Match

Displaying a superior knowledge of the game, the Hillside Rovers scored a 3 to 1 victory over the Victoria High School football eleven in a friendly game played yesterday on the Fernwood pitch.

The Rovers lost no time in applying the pressure and before many minutes had elapsed Art Carr booted the ball past the High goal. From the kick-off, Hillside forced the High defence continually, and Carr again scored on a pass from Restall. High School struggled valiantly to check the Hillside rush, but on a pretty combination play, featuring Barnwell and Carr, Hillside failed, the latter scoring for the third time.

After the rest period, High School rallied, holding the Hillside crew in check. High School rushed the Rovers' goal and, in an effort to clear the ball, Casey, Hillside back, kicked into his own goal. Play centered around midfield for the remainder of the fixture.

St. Louis Cardinals referred.

The teams follow:

Hillside Rovers—O'Connor, Sage, Robertson, Holmes, Restall, Purss, S. Carr, A. Carr, Murray, Casey and Barnwell.

Victoria High School—Renfrew, Hess, Leason, Embry, George, Tregellas, J. O'Neil, R. O'Neil, Lawson, Gent and Thornburn.

Portland Wingman Adds Ten Points to Scoring Total in Northwest Hockey

Calgary, Feb. 28.—The sensational climb of Jimmy Evans, Portland Blackhawk wingman, featured this week's scoring in the Northwestern Hockey League. Although he standing his goal-and-assist total jumped ten points to thirty-four and placed him a single point behind Dutch Galtner, Calgary, and five points behind Art Gagne, Eskimo first string right-winger.

Gagne stepped out during the week to break a three-way tie with Galtner and Clint Smith, Vancouver's youthful centre, Smith, however, still has top place among the marksmen, with twenty-three goals to his credit, one more than his right-hand man, Charlie Mason. Play-making has been a trifle more useful to Gagne than his sniping, and as a result his figures, nineteen goals and twenty assists, show him leading in the assist column.

SLIM PICKINGS

Pickings were rather slim for Calgary marksmen last week and for Dutch Galtner in particular. In three games at the coast Tigers collected only five goals, Galtner getting one of them. This one made him 19-16—35 and kept him one ahead of Portland's Evans, who had a field day in his club's 13 to 7 win over Edmonton Sunday.

Ernie Kenny, lanky Eskimo defence star, who has been running neck and neck in the penalty race with his mate, Art Townsend, went into the lead this week. In this category his eighty minutes now places him eight minutes up on Art. Ty Arbour, Eskimo left wingman, has been the least penalized regular in the league with only two minutes forced rest. Clint Smith had four minutes logged against him.

The twelve leading scorers follow:

Fighting Spirit Feature of McGraw's Early Ball Days

Pitched Curve As a Youngster and Won $1

By BILL BRAUCHER

New York, Feb. 28.—It was a hot midsummer day in 1889. An accommodation train was pulling out of Truxton, N.Y. On the back platform stood a black-haired boy, waving.

As the train receded from view, the boy turned, picked up a basket and started through the aisle, calling, "Chewing gum, candy, magazines!"

The boy was the late John Joseph McGraw.

That was forty-five years ago, and McGraw was sixteen years old. Since then the slender boy fought his way to the very top of baseball and became a legend of the game as a player for the old Orioles and as manager of the New York Giants for thirty years.

An argument started in the smoking car. Some smart aleck of a summer was trying to tell the folks that a man could throw a curve with a baseball. McGraw put his basket on a up.

"I can throw a curve ball myself!" They looked at him dubiously. One of the passengers possessed a sporting instinct.

"I'll bet $10 he can't," he challenged the crowd.

The bet was made. McGraw taking a dollar of it himself. The conductor took a part. So did the drummer.

At the next town the conductor stopped the train and the passengers assembled on a vacant lot. Three stakes were driven twenty feet apart. McGraw had to prove his curve by making the ball go to the right of the middle stake and to the left of the third stake where a catcher was to stand.

The ball barked around the middle stake and sailed to the left of the last stake. The demonstration was conclusive. A man could make a baseball curve.

McGraw was younger and smaller than the other boys, weighing only 105 pounds. But he made up for it with fight. After he had pitched and won a few games around his home town, which was Truxton, he was offered a job on the Ocean team of the Iron and Oil League. Besides, his board he was to get $10 a month.

Because of his hitting and run-making ability McGraw (he was then only seventeen) was placed at third base. He was not so successful as a fielder because of a tendency to throw wildly. But he studied and practiced.

Ambitious, he obtained his release from the Ocean team and moved on to Wallingford in the Western New York League. The following season saw him tackling a job at Cedar Rapids, Ia., in the Three-Eye League.

In the old days John McGraw could depend on Iron Man Joe McGinnity to pitch a game every other day when the going was hard . . . they are shown conferring, McGraw left.

He met Henry Fabian at Cedar Rapids, and Fabian remained his friend through the years. McGraw's old teammate now being ground-keeper at the Polo Grounds. Says Fabian of those early days: "McGraw was the cockiest kid that ever broke into a ball game. He was convinced he was a big leaguer right from the start. You just couldn't stop him."

Forty-three years ago a scout for the Baltimore Orioles was going through the "brats" for talent. He saw McGraw and produced a pen and contract at once.

On August 22, 1892, little John McGraw, then eighteen, made his first appearance in the uniform of the Orioles, at Columbus, O. It was a team destined to enact an ever-lasting glorious part in the drama of baseball history.

Poor Support At Winnipeg Forces Wheat Again

Winnipeg, Feb. 28.—Buyers were way on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day as Tuesday's buying enthusiasm petered out. Support was of the slightest proportions and buyers finished the day session with losses of 1/2 cent.

Source of the light selling was hard to determine but it appeared to come from disinterested holders of wheat. May option closed at 67 1/2, with July wheat quoted at 69 cents.

The market appeared to be back in the rut it left for a short time Tuesday. Trading was limited.

Export sales aggregating about 200,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported from Vancouver. Buy-

C.C.F. VIEWS ON FARMING

Delta Member Scoffs at Oft Drawn Pictures of Simple Life on Land

Views of a C.C.F. member on farming, with a scornful picture contrast of the advocated small mixed farm to conditions he claimed existed, were presented to the Legislature yesterday by R. B. Swales, member for Delta.

After presenting figures to show the farmers' small return for their efforts, Mr. Swales said a lot had been heard about self-sustained farming, another variation of the familiar song of mixed farming.

"It is a curious circumstance," remarked Mr. Swales, "that those who say most about mixed farming are usually urban or armchair farmers. The dirt farmer is usually of the opinion that farming does not require any further mixing. It requires considerable unmixing."

CONTRASTS

He referred to the picture of the simple life—an acre and a cow and the pioneer farming forth with wife and family, axe and maul to carve for himself a home and farm out of the wilderness.

"These and other attractive, but very misleading pictures have created a false idea in the unformed and inexperienced mind. Let me draw for you a contrast to the brilliance of the opening ceremony, and the hall in which we now are, a word picture of conditions on some of our farms to-day," continued Mr. Swales. "A single-room log house, with a rough board floor, three beds, a noticeable scarcity of bedding, a rusty, decrepit stove, totally inadequate cooking utensils, a rough table, and seating accommodation." and the most primitive of sanitary arrangements and water supply.

"On this place were a man, his wife and ten children, the man himself insufficiently clothed, the wife almost unclothed, and with a pair of ancient rubbers for footwear, the children in little more than underwear, which was the gift of some charitable organization, and their only footwear, rubber boots."

"Another one or two-room rough-board shacks originally covered with tar paper, now so badly torn that daylight is plainly visible through the walls despite efforts at repairs. In this place are three young children and an expectant mother, furnishings, clothing and appointments very much the same as in the first case."

"Some may say isolated cases; not by any means; for you can within twenty miles of Vancouver see scores of cases like these."

DEMANDS ACTION

The condition of the farmers to-day demanded action, not retrogressive but creative, constructive action, Mr. Swales claimed. Despair and defeat were succeeding the hope and ambition that made Canadian agriculture its foremost industry.

Reference has been made to the British Marketing Act, but evidence is not wanting that this act is not adequately functioning.

The West Riding Branch of the National Farmers' Union unanimously passed a resolution condemning the milk marketing scheme and demanding its revision. While the C.C.F. realized that no marketing scheme could prove a solution to the farmers' problems because of the lack of an effective market, by which was meant a market possessing the price and willingness to pay that price, and also that any co-operative scheme must be Dominion-wide to be of any material help.

Members on his side of the House would co-operate gladly to evolve and bring into being any such scheme, knowing that it would serve to point the way to still more radical and constructive measures, that it will serve to create, not a yomany based on the ideas of three hundred years ago, but a progressive agricultural population, using the scientific and mechanical devices which man's ingenuity has evolved. Not an agriculture upon which the rest of society was firmly set, but an agriculture which was an integral part of an intelligent planned social whole.

The speaker pointed to the C.C.F. advocacy of a soil survey of the province to determine suitability of the soil for various types of agriculture; research to determine the most economically operated acreage having regard to the crops to be raised; assistance to farmers in their productive endeavors and further assistance with regard to the distribution and marketing of their product.

WHEN AIR MAIL MEN BEAT BLIZZARD

There were accidents when the United States army air corps started flying the mails in that country, but the successful flights were far in the majority. The above picture was taken just after airmen, using a converted bomber, had arrived at Newark, N.J., from Cleveland, Ohio. In carrying their cargo of mail they fought their way through a winter gale.

000 gold "coverage." Of what utility is this gold coverage? A bank manager not 100 miles away from Victoria recently remarked that he could easily think of a run on a bank, but he was unable to visualize a run on the government of Canada. Government is not paying out any of this gold at present anyway so a "run" on it is quite impossible.

Yet who cares a hoot so long as the ones and twos are accepted at par by everybody? And this confidence is not misplaced because government has a revenue-collecting power infinitely greater than the amount involved. What the tax-burdened citizen has a right to know, however, is why so much gold is kept in a vault at Ottawa? Where is the excuse for that?

A. F. W. Plumptre, lecturer, Money Department of Economics, Toronto University, writing in McLean's Magazine, January 15, 1933, says: "As far as any direct connection between the notes and the gold supposedly 'supporting' them goes, the gold might as well have been left buried in the old mine as taken out and buried in the vault." And again: "Thus, we must keep our gold reserves to assuage the fears of those who know no better than to want them." So the professor lets the cat clean out of the bag.

To assuage groundless fears a bunch of millions lies dead in the ground at Ottawa that could easily be used to reduce the national debt and the burden of taxation imposed to pay the interest on the same.

Is it not the duty of statesmen to "assuage" the fears of the plain people by telling them the plain truth instead of helping to perpetuate their superstitions? Or, "tell it not in Gath"—are our statesmen so dull themselves as to gulp down undiluted the flapsodde ladled out so copiously by the money changers? Another thing, government should cease farming out its duty of issuing the currency to dividend-seeking corporations; that currency is based at present largely upon matter blown from the muzzles of cannon (war bonds). Government should itself issue the people's currency, token money, based upon the legitimate revenue-collecting power of government, namely, the value of natural resources.

Gold has been found impotent. In times of stress it does not do what was expected of it. Unusual economic conditions have weighed the gold reserve theory in the balance and found it wanting. Mr. Bennett should sell out the contents of that Ottawa hole in the ground to President Roosevelt while the selling is good; the price will be much reduced in the near future or I have my guess.

VANCOUVER ISLAND GOLD MINES LTD. (N.P.L.)

Authorized Capital $2,250,000—Par value of shares 50 cents

Nearly half a century ago these properties—hidden from civilization—were closed down because the ore when milled ran ONLY from $50.00 to $72.00 per ton!

At last these crown granted claims, only ten miles from Port Alberni, are being opened up again—the public issue of stock offers an especially attractive speculation.

● PROPERTY
Thirty-five mineral claims and fractions, approximately 1,750 acres, comprising the whole of Mineral Hill near Port Alberni, Vancouver Island. Easily accessible and with natural advantages which make for economical operation. The ore bodies are said to be similar in formation to the famous Comstock Lode in Nevada. Three known quartz veins are on the property.

● HISTORY
No more glamorous history of gold mining in Canada is recorded than that of the early efforts of Dunsmuir and his associates to wrest the riches from Mineral Hill. Later the Duke of Montrose and his men, said to be Imperial Army reservists, began operation, only to close down on 24 hours' notice when the Boer War began. Read the story in the new illustrated descriptive booklet, which is yours for the asking.

● DEVELOPMENT
Over $100,000 was expended in the early-day development. During the past five months the old workings have been opened and the shaft de-watered. At present, buildings are being erected preparatory to the employment of a full crew.

● FUTURE PLANS
The proceeds of the present public offering will be used to complete the rehabilitation of the property and do the necessary development work to bring the property, as quickly as possible, to the stage of mill construction. It is planned that the property will be brought into production in record time.

WORKS SCHEME IS ENDORSED

Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers Support Plan to Improve Colquitz Area

The petition presented by ratepayers of Ward Four, Saanich, requesting the provincial government to include in its public works relief scheme the draining of Colquitz flats and the permanent surfacing of the old B.C. Electric right-of-way from Burnside Road to Saanich Road, was unanimously endorsed at an enthusiastic meeting of the newly-formed Ward Four Ratepayers' Association Monday evening.

The principle of the petition was previously supported by the municipal council, which, although it had no money to provide the work itself, was wholly in favor of the government undertaking the measure.

Thirty-three persons attended the meeting, at which the constitution and by-laws of the new association were approved and presented, with slight amendment.

Three delegates were selected to represent the association in the Central Ratepayers' Association. They were W. W. Carter, president; J. Stelley and Mr. Atkinson.

A resolution regarding proposed works on sidewalks throughout the municipality was tabled for future action.

New Stock Rules Are Opposed

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 28.—Opposition to the Fletcher-Rayburn stock market regulation bill was expressed yesterday by Charles A. Collins, president of Boston Exchange, who contended it would "work a hardship on the New England public as a whole and on the security houses serving New England."

Before the House of Representatives Interstate commerce committee he registered "an emphatic and special protest" against the provision of the legislation "which makes it unlawful for a concern to be both a dealer and a broker."

FROM CHICAGO
Michael J. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, warned against too strict federal regulation of the exchanges.

"Certainly this is not the time," he asserted, "to put unnecessary restrictions on liquidity, when freezing of assets and destruction of values have nearly paralyzed our economic life."

TO QUESTION WITNESSES
Meanwhile, the senate banking committee, in an extraordinary move, granted the New York Stock Exchange the privilege of being represented by counsel in its hearings on the Fletcher-Rayburn bill. Roland Redmond, exchange attorney, will be allowed to question witnesses.

The action left the committee sitting as a jury on the stock market with its own counsel, Ferdinand Pecora, acting as prosecutor, and Redmond as chief defence counsel.

C.C.F. Submits Wage Proposals

Widening of even the drastic powers already included in Hon. G. S. Pearson's new minimum wage law is sought by E. E. Winch, C.C.F. Burnaby, in notice of an amendment filed yesterday.

Mr. Winch proposes that minimum scales be effective for all male workers after they reach the age of eighteen years, without exemptions for farm laborers and domestic employees as provided in the draft bill.

He would also amend the Industrial Relations Board to give it a membership of six instead of five by replacing the one woman member by two men named by organized labor.

Instead of permissive power for the board to fix amounts settled for board and lodgings, and also to hold inquiries, he proposes that these be made mandatory on application by the interested parties.

The C.C.F. member also wishes to have the minimum wage scale defined as not "a lower rate than that necessary standard of living as defined by the cost-of-living statistics as regularly published by the Dominion Labor Bureau."

FRANK LEROY IS PRESIDENT

Again Chosen Ratepayers' Leader After Year's Absence From Chair

Frank Leroy, former president of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, yesterday evening was returned as chief executive at the annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce. Other executive officials named were: Mrs. Julia de Blaquiere, first vice-president; J. Howard Chapman, second vice-president; Capt. J. Burgess Godden, treasurer, and Arthur Hinder, secretary.

The following were chosen for the executive: Ralph Margison, J. A. Parfitt, F. A. Graham, R. J. Rogers, Charles Cookson, I. Findlay, E. T. Williams, P. A. Stock, John Fry, Mrs. J. T. Mulrhead, Watson Clarke, W. T. McGibbon, Mrs. E. Campbell, George Boller and A. I. Kirkpatrick.

STORMY SESSION
The meeting opened in a stormy atmosphere, and for a while, before Frank Higgins, president, vacated in favor of his successor, several allegations were made against the 1933 executive to the effect that it was "railroading" in new officers and was trying to keep old members out.

This started when Frank A. Graham proposed G. A. Mave for president. "Are you a member, Mr. Graham?" asked Mr. Higgins.

"Well, the secretary hasn't got your name on the roll," said the chairman.

"Well, I paid my dollar," came back Mr. Graham.

"Well, there's more ways of killing a cat than murdering it. I'll pay my dollar," said Mr. Graham, walking to the front and throwing a $5 bill towards the secretary.

"But you can't come here expressly to nominate an officer," said the chair.

MEMBER BY PROXY
Mr. Leroy was then nominated.

"But he's not a member," interrupted the chair.

"I'm as much a member as you are," said Mr. Leroy. "My wife owns property in the city and I'm acting for her the same as you are for your wife."

"Yes, but are you delegated by your wife to use her proxy?" asked Mr. Higgins.

"As much as you are," was the reply.

"I would like to ask the secretary if he has on file a letter delegating the president to act for his wife," said Mr. Leroy.

"Certainly he has," said Mr. Higgins, but there was no reply from the secretary.

There then developed an argument between the chairman and J. Howard Chapman regarding the constitutional right of those to vote at the meeting if they were not paid up.

It was finally decided to confine voting to members only, a recess being granted later for former and new members to pay their dues and become active members.

The meeting was generally divided throughout the evening and several issues were debated at length without productive action.

In presenting the annual report, Mr. Higgins covered the association's activities during the last year. These had included a petition for lower fire insurance rates, the promotion against further reversion of city property; the lowering of the mill rate by the council as a result of the association's protest against an announced increase; a thorough investigation and inquiry into the administration of relief; a protest meeting during the provincial election campaign to have the candidates deal with the most vital questions pertaining to taxation; as a result of which the Minister of Finance replied that every effort was to be made to keep taxes down. The executive had kept in close contact with the mayor and council and was alive to the issues of the day, he stated.

The financial statement, showing a small balance as at January 1, 1934, was presented by Capt. J. E. Godden, treasurer.

Each of the new officers thanked the meeting for the honors accorded them and looked forward to a more progressive year during 1934.

Financial Panic Formed Foundation For C.C.F., Speaker Declares

Speaking at the weekly C.C.F. meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, Harley C. E. Anderson, M.P.P. for North Vancouver, discussed socialism generally in outlining "The Next Step."

"It is the duty of everyone to assist in breaking down the barriers that retard the progress of the movement that is now trying to operate for the benefit of all the people of the country," he said.

The financial crash of 1929 was described by the speaker as the foundation for the C.C.F. movement to change the social order. Not this, he said, but the C.C.F. dealing with mankind—but it had in existence—justice, equity and fair were new, in fact they are the oldest of a commodity to be bought and sold at a market price. Those who were useful to society should have an opportunity to assume their rightful place.

V. R. Midgley was chairman of the meeting and Harold E. Winch, M.P.P. for Vancouver East, gave a short address.

COAL COMPANY CAPITAL IS CUT

Application by the Kingham-Gillette Coal Company for a reduction of their corporate capital was made to Mr. Justice Robertson of the Supreme Court here yesterday by H. G. Lawson, counsel for the company.

Mr. Lawson said that under the terms of the merger between J. Kingham and Co. and Mackay and Gillespie, the Kingham interests were to put up $50,000 in cash and receive 50,000 paid up shares in the merger.

The Mackay and Gillespie interests were to put up $40,000 in cash and receive 30,000 paid up shares, with both businesses transferred to the new company. However, the Kingham interests actually paid in only $25,000 in cash and the others only $20,000 in cash, which represented the same proportion for each. There are outstanding claims against the company.

The justice made an order for a reduction of capital accordingly.

DISTRICT A.Y.P.A. LOCAL COUNCIL

On Thursday evening the regular meeting of the Victoria and District A.Y.P.A. was held in the Memorial Hall. J. Aylewin was appointed to distribute and promote sales of the A.Y.P.A. monthly magazine among the branches.

The resolutions passed at the provincial A.Y.P.A. Conference were read and discussed.

On March 6 a rally of all A.Y.P.A. branches will be held, at which Mr. Halford Wilson, president of the Provincial A.Y.P.A. Council, will be the speaker. The committee will announce all particulars later.

ST. MARY'S A.Y.P.A.
The regular meeting of St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. was held in the Parish Hall, Wednesday, with the president in the chair. The entire evening was spent discussing business. The matter of attendance was discussed and the hope was expressed all the old members would return.

METROPOLITAN Y.P.S.
The schoolroom of Metropolitan United Church was the scene of a fine social on Monday evening when the Metropolitan Young People's Society entertained members of the James Bay and Esquimaux young people's societies. The programme for the evening was planned by Miss Mollie Laity and Miss Ruth Saunders under the heading "Famous Sweethearts' Night."

A sing-song was held while the young people were arriving, after which they were divided into four groups by the matching of 98 new pairs. Various relay races and other games were then enjoyed. James Bay society put on a stunt of shadow pictures, showing a doctor performing an operation on a patient with many gruesome effects, which caused great merriment. Jack and Edith Church sang a duet entitled "What We Marry." "Pyramus and Thisbe" was the title of a short skit put on by members of group A, the following taking part: Jester, Miss Mollie Laity; Wall, Miss Edith Church; Moonshine, Gerald McNaught; Lion, Jack Church; Pyramus, Don McCain; Thisbe, Hazel McPhee.

A Mock Wedding also provided a great deal of amusement with a large number of the members taking part. The wedding feast was daintily prepared and served under the direction of the Misses Genevieve Knapp, Eileen Simmonds and Ruth Amblard. The coffee was prepared by Mrs. McNeill through the courtesy of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Next week the meeting will be in charge of the groups with Miss Jessie Christopher directing the worship service. Miss Mollie Laity in charge of the special feature, and Elbert Wood conducting the recreational period. Each group is working hard to win the pennant for the best attendance for the term.

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S.
"Resolved That Modern Dress Should Be Reformed," was the subject of an entertaining debate between representatives of the Volunteers and Ongeos at a meeting of the First United Church Young People's Society on Monday evening. Miss Dorothy Scott and Miss Margaret Purves upheld the negative. Fred Wormald and Jack Milne speaking for the affirmative. Miss Charlotte Crawford of the literary committee was in the chair, and explained the rules and details of the debate. Much amusement was caused by the comments on dress, both ancient and modern, of men and women, and the debaters were assisted in their representations by the Misses Helen Marsh and Iris Gaskill.

The judges were Miss Jean McIntosh and W. T. Straith. In announcing the awarding of the decision to the negative, Mr. Straith thanked all the speakers for the excellent entertainment provided, and congratulated the Volunteers on winning the trophy for the second year in succession.

A Glee Club musical programme consisted of vocal solos by Miss Dolly Rutledge, accompanied by Miss Iris Gaskill, and violin and piano duets by Miss Linda Smith and Miss Eliza Waldwood.

George Gordon led the group in a camp fire sing-song, following which a discussion was held on the social committee.

The meeting closed with a worship service conducted by Miss Lillian Robinson, who spoke inspiringly on the challenge which Christianity presented to modern youth.

An interesting programme has been arranged for next Monday evening, when the Christian Fellowship committee will be in charge. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will address the meeting and some interesting motion pictures will be shown by George Warren Jr.
